REPORT OF FERTILIZER TRUST PROBE DELAYED

Washington, April 14.—(Special.) The investigation by the department of justice into an alleged monopoly by a "fertilizer" trust probably will not be completed for several weeks yet, Attorney General Sargent said Tuesday.

Senator Harris, of Georgia, asked the investigation several weeks ago because of price increases, which he considered unwarranted. He has conferred several times with officials of the department regarding the investigation.

Freight Raise Suspended.

Washington, April 14.—Proposed increases in freight rates on grain and grain products from Chicago, Peoria, Cairo, Ill., and St. Louis, Mo., and related points to Alliance and Savannah, Ohio, and related points today were ordered suspended pending investigation by the interstate commerce commission.

Man Has Right To Spank Wife, Judge Rules

Moultrie, Ga., April 14.—Under certain conditions a man has a right to spank his wife, Judge Ogden Persons held in superior court here today.

His decision came in the case of Fred Bannister, young farmer, indicted on charges of assault and battery brought by his wife, who objected to being spanked.

Testimony at the trial tended to show Mrs. Bannister had slapped her husband's mother and then had declined to apologize.

The young husband took his wife away from the house—so that the chastisement would be in private—and there laid her across his knees and administered a mild spanking, it was testified.

Before arguments in the case were begun, Judge Persons directed a verdict in favor of the defendant.

ARCADE FIRMS LAUNCH BIG SPRING FESTIVAL

Merchants of the Peachtree Arcade, have just launched their third annual spring festival, and the huge building is flying gay colors as a welcome to visitors and downtown shoppers.

Nowhere is spring more evident than at the Arcade, where peach blossoms and green foliage run riot, and where scores of fluffy canary birds are joining in a chorus of silvery notes.

The building is more beautifully decorated this year than ever before. Thousands of shoppers visited the Arcade yesterday.

Merchandise Guaranteed.

The Arcade guarantee plan, inaugurated by the Arcade Cooperative association last year as a merchandising feature, is proving exceptionally popular. The guarantee plan is a feature of the Arcade association that every article of merchandise sold by members of the association is guaranteed to be as represented.

In speaking of the 1925 spring festival, Charles A. Green, president of the association, said: "Merchants of the Arcade have been elated over the public interest manifested in this event. The spring festival has become an annual affair with the Arcade association and it offers the public an excellent opportunity to shop at a big advantage."

GOVERNOR TO HEAR DUNN EXTRADITION

Governor Clifford Walker will hold an extradition hearing Thursday morning at 11 o'clock in the case of William A. Dunn. Dunn is now held in the city jail at Savannah, and the state of North Carolina has applied for the extradition of the prisoner, stating that he is wanted on a charge of passing worthless checks. It is understood that the extradition will be vigorously opposed.

Mrs. Ida Hughes To Be Transferred To Farm at Once

Mrs. Ida Hughes, whose death sentence was commuted to life imprisonment by Governor Clifford Walker last Saturday, will be transferred to the state prison farm at Milledgeville at once, following an order for her transfer sent Tuesday by the state prison commission to Superintendent B. H. Dunaway, at Milledgeville.

An attendant from the state prison farm will come for Mrs. Hughes, it was said, to carry her from Fulton tower, where she has been held since her arrest for the slaying of her mother-in-law over a year ago.

The order was sent to Superintendent Dunaway when Governor Walker transmitted his commutation order to the commission and it is expected that Mrs. Hughes will have left for Milledgeville by Wednesday night.

It is believed that she will be put to work either as cook or housekeeper. Out of 120 women in the female department at the prison only 11 are white. The 109 negro women work in the fields while white women are kept to do inside work.

Among her new companions will be Mrs. Cora Lou Vinson and Ollie Justice, of Fulton county; Mrs. Nora Duen, of Ware county, and Mrs. Amanda Brooks and Sallie Brooks, of Crisp county. The last two are mother and daughter, aged 63 and 21, respectively.

The woman's prison is more comfortable and cleaner than many sanitariums, one commissioner said Tuesday. "I was down there a few days ago and the improvement in health and appearance of Mrs. Vinson, for instance, is so marked that you would hardly know her compared to her appearance at her trial."

Incidentally, it was mentioned at the commission offices that there is a full pardon waiting there for another Fulton county woman who was sentenced to the prison in a killing case, but her whereabouts are now not known. This is Mrs. Williams, who killed a railroad man in her apartment several years ago. She was sentenced to from one to two years, served the full year at Milledgeville and observed all regulations of her parole for the second year in Georgia.

Among special subjects suggested for discussion by the association are the advisability of actively helping to obtain new industries for the state and plans for creation of such a department. It also is planned to arrange a special train and exhibit for the next National Dairy show, at Indianapolis, to make a preliminary survey of certain states from which new Georgia settlers may be expected to devise a mode of financing for the coming year.

Continued advancement of the so-called hog-hen program will be discussed and allied subjects of financing and markets; helping farmers in investing in good dairy cows with the possible formation of dairy associations through which federal intermediate credit bank money can be obtained, where local banks are not willing to take the initiative in financing these farmers.

Permanent available cold storage facilities for eggs raised in Georgia will be discussed, as a means of orderly marketing and consequent better prices for the poultry farmers of the state. F. H. Abbott, secretary of the association, states that the dairy and poultry industries in the state have been advancing rapidly, but that the hog industry is lagging, and the delegates to the annual meeting will probably discuss plans to build up the "hog" division.

The association expects to circulate 50,000 copies of its special farm program—land settlement number of its official magazine, "The Georgia Magazine," in other states and reports that this issue is receiving enthusiastic and widespread support. Many civic and commercial bodies all over the state are arranging for copies to be mailed to prospective settlers.

High School Oratorical Winner To Be Selected In Contests Next Week

Winner Will Carry Georgia Banner Into Zone Contests To Be Held Later in Nashville.

A full roster of 12 high school boys and girls will be in Atlanta next Thursday—one from each congressional district in the state—to deliver original orations dealing with the federal constitution, in a contest to determine the state champion high school orator for 1925.

The winner will carry the Georgia banner into the zone contest to be held in Nashville, Tenn., on May 1, and if successful there, in defeating champions of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Alabama and Tennessee, will go to Washington, D. C., to meet winners in the six other national zones, to decide the national high school oratorical championship and the winners of the seven cash prizes offered by the American Bar association.

In the Georgia state contest next week there are two prize offered by The Constitution, one of $100 and the other $20, both in gold. In addition to this, each of the two winners will receive a ticket to the Metropolitan grand opera performance of "Metastasele," with Chaliapin, Olda, Peralta, etc., on Friday night at the Auditorium. These tickets are given as extra prizes by H. C. Thorburn, president of Karnak, Inc., of Atlanta.

The Georgia contest judges are three members of the state supreme court. Associate Justices S. Price Gilbert, H. Warner Hill and Marcus W. Beck. Governor Clifford Walker will preside at the contest which will be held in the evening in the house of representatives in the state capitol. President Calvin Coolidge will preside at the national contest in Washington on May 8.

The contest, which has aroused intense interest throughout Georgia, is sponsored in this state by The Constitution and the State High School association, and nationally by the American Bar association.

The 12 representatives coming to Atlanta from the 12 districts were chosen at district contests held last week, at which the champions of the different high schools in the district were the competitors. The local school champions were chosen late in March in contests held in their respective institutions.

Unusual Question Decided in Georgia By Supreme Court

The initial carrier is responsible to the shipper for acts of a subsequent carrier, according to a decision of the Georgia supreme court handed down Tuesday. The ruling is notable in that it is the first of its kind made in Georgia. The question has never been propounded to the United States supreme court.

"It is somewhat surprising," says the court in its decision, "to find that this question propounded by the court of appeals has never been decided by the supreme court of the United States. It is pointed out that similar cases have been decided in other states but in such litigation the United States court prevails.

The case involved was that brought by Fletcher & Adair, of 124 Decatur street, Atlanta, against the Southern railway, seeking damages for loss of a shipment of shoes. The petition sets forth that the shoes were turned over to the Southern for transportation to New York and were sold for freight charges by the Pennsylvania railroad before the shipper knew that the consignee had refused to accept them.

The ruling of the state supreme court was made in answer to questions certified to it by the state court of appeals.

Similar decisions were recorded in answer to certified questions in the case of the Georgia Southern & Florida Railway company against the Tifton Produce company, involving a shipment to Philadelphia, which the Tifton company claims the Pennsylvania road sold without notifying consignee that it had arrived.

BEAVERS' HEARING ATLANTANS ASKED IS NEARING CLOSE TO HELP VETERANS

Argument is expected to end today on the certiorari sought in behalf of James L. Beavers, ousted chief of police, who seeks to obtain a review of the courts of the action of the police committee of city council in firing him in April, 1924. Hearing on the proceeding began Tuesday morning in Judge George L. Bell's division of Fulton superior court.

Chief Beavers appeared in court with his attorney, George L. Spence, and began his attack on the grounds set out by the committee in the dismissal action. Jesse L. Wood, assistant city attorney, contended that the committee acted within its rights when it fired Chief Beavers for alleged failure to observe rules of the department and for taking a pauper's oath when he was a property owner in the city.

When the case was opened Tuesday, the two-year fight which has been waged between the former chief and the council committee flared in court again. Almost a year before his dismissal in 1924, Chief Beavers was fired by the police committee and on an appeal to the courts the action of the committee was set aside and the ousted official reinstated. This is the course which Beavers is attempting to pursue in the present ruling of the committee.

In event the court sets aside the ruling of the committee, Beavers again would be chief of the department and Acting Chief of Police F. L. Jett would be superseded. Beavers claims the rule requiring him to inspect patrolmen at their work is obsolete, having been passed in 1887 when the department had only 30 members, whereas there are now more than 400. This charge was made in action removing Beavers.

HOLDER'S APPEAL SET FOR HEARING

Hearing on appeal of John N. Holder, deposed chairman of the state highway board, will probably come before the Georgia supreme court next Wednesday. Tuesday the court placed this case on the foot of the calendar of cases set for argument during the week of April 20.

The case is before the supreme court on bills of exceptions filed by both sides. Mr. Holder claims that Governor Clifford Walker did not have authority to remove him as chairman. He lost this case when Judge Malcolm D. Jones sustained the demurrer of the defense.

However, Judge Jones also sustained a demurrer by Mr. Holder's attorneys, to the effect that a report made by C. R. Dawson, private auditor appointed by Governor Walker to investigate the highway department, was not material when introduced as evidence as to the cause why the governor had removed Mr. Holder.

Both sides appealed to the supreme court. Attorneys for Mr. Holder are Sam L. Olive, Marion Smith and Hugh Dorsey, all of Atlanta, while the board is represented by Seward M. Smith, of Atlanta, its special attorney, and Attorneys Harry M. Strozier and Bascom S. Denver, of Macon.

FAIR AND WARMER. Weather Man Promises Continuance of Spring.

Continued warm weather with a total absence of the usual April showers is forecast for today by C. F. von Herrmann, chief of the United States weather bureau in Atlanta. Temperatures, which reached over the 80-degree mark on Tuesday, were scheduled to repeat for today and no lower reading than 68 or 70 degrees is expected, according to the weather man.

Easter started a spell of fine weather, which is set to last for some days, according to Mr. von Herrmann.

CITY EMPLOYEES PLAN CIRCUS VISIT

City officials and employees of various mercantile firms and business institutions will enjoy a half holiday Wednesday to visit the big three-ring circus of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, now filling a week's engagement at Spiller park, in compliance with a proclamation issued by Mayor Walter A. Sims.

The big circus has won uniformly high praise from those who have enjoyed the big show performance and the exhibition of the world congress of daredevils. The circus has brought to Atlanta some of the most sensational acrobatic acts in the country, while all the daredevils are producing thrilling displays each afternoon and night.

Thursday and Friday will be "kid dies' days" and various special features will be presented for the benefit of the children. Plans have been made by the management of the Fraternal Circus company to entertain during the week the children from the Atlanta orphanages and the veterans' hospital. The children of the Shrine hospital for crippled children also will be the guests of the circus management. Proceeds from the circus engagement will be given by the John B. Gordon Klan No. 91, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, to the Confederate Soldiers' home.

MEN'S BIBLE CLASS TO ATTEND FUNERAL OF FERRAND O'NEAL

Funeral services for "Irl" Ferrand O'Neal, 36, of 38 West Tenth street, who died Tuesday morning at a private hospital, will be held at 10 o'clock this morning from the First Baptist church, Rev. Charles W. Daniel officiating. Interment will be in West View cemetery.

Members of the Twentieth Century Bible class and the Alathan class, of which he was a member, will attend in a body.

Mr. O'Neal was born in Troupe county and received his education at the North Georgia Agricultural college at Dahlonega. During the world war he served in the U. S. C. A. In 1915 he married Miss Alice Walker, of Ellaville, Ga., who survives him.

He was active in affairs of the Sunday school and church movements. In addition to his widow he is survived by his father, E. J. O'Neal, of Salem; three brothers, Verner O'Neal, of LaGrange; Emis O'Neal, of Salem, and Reese O'Neal, of Monessen, Pa.; and a sister, Mrs. Robert Simmons, of West Point, Ga.

ALLEGED SLAYER LODGED IN JAIL

Bristol, Va., April 14.—Kenneth Wagner, alleged slayer of Policeman John Smith, of Kingsport, and Deputy Sheriff Hubert Webb, of Bluff City, who were shot and killed at Kingsport yesterday, was apprehended today and is in the Blountville, Tenn., jail, authorities here were notified by telephone.

The two officers were killed and Policeman John Frazier was seriously wounded when they met Wagner as he came over an embankment on Leedy creek. Wagner is alleged to have dodged behind a tree and opened fire. Smith and Webb fell with bullet wounds in the chest, both dying almost instantly. Frazier also was shot through the chest and his recovery is regarded as doubtful.

The assailant is alleged to have then taken a horse from Dewey Nelson at the point of a gun. He escaped with Policemen Miller and Grosvenor emptying their revolvers after him.

Authority Granted To 'Pennsy' Directors To Raise Indebtedness

Philadelphia, April 14.—The annual meeting of Pennsylvania railroad stockholders today authorized the board of directors to increase the indebtedness of the company $100,000,000 for future financing.

Announcement that the stockholders would be asked to make this authorization was made two months ago. Several stockholders criticized the method of the company's financing, declaring that bankers get the cream and the skimmed milk is left for the stockholders. A suggestion that the shareholders be given an opportunity to subscribe to the company's securities before they go to the bankers was not acted upon.

FLORIDA HOLDS UP SALE OF BEACH SAND

Tallahassee, Fla., April 14.—(By the Associated Press.)—Trustees of the Internal Improvement fund today declined to take the final step in consummating the contract permitting mining of the sands on the beach between the jetties at the mouth of the St. John's river and St. Augustine, basing its action on recommendations by Governor Martin.

The trustees last week referred to the governor the matter of investigating finally the wisdom of entering into contract with L. M. Hirschfeld and associates whereby they would be permitted to mine the beach sands under prescribed conditions. He made a trip to Jacksonville Friday to go into the matter.

"I beg to report," said the governor's recommendations, "that after a full and thorough investigation of the entire matter I am of the opinion that it would be a mistake to grant the concession."

BOARD ASKS DISMISSAL OF PACIFIC MAIL SUIT

Washington, April 14.—The shipping board today formally asked the supreme court of the District of Columbia to dismiss the proceedings whereby the Pacific Mail Steamship company seeks to prevent consummation of the sale of five President-type ships to the Dollar interests.

Contentions set up by the board are that the Pacific company has no equitable interest in the ships that it is to maintain the suit that congress vested in the board discretion in selling and buying ships and that the court lacks jurisdiction to review such discretion.

Also it was maintained that the suit is faulty because it fails to make the United States, the red owners of the ships, and the Dollar interests, the purchasers of them, defendants in the action.

TIFTON BUSINESS MEN ORGANIZE GIN FIRM

Tifton, Ga., April 14.—(Special.)—A group of Tifton business men have organized a corporation to be known as the Perfection Gin company, for the purpose of erecting another modern gin for Tifton. Heretofore, Tifton has had only one gin and the need for another has been felt for some time. The gin will be placed in operation in time for the coming cotton season.

HINT ABOUT DEBT GIVEN RUMANIA

Washington, April 14.—Minister Jay at Bucharest has presented a communication to the Rumanian government calling attention to the fact that that government has negotiated debt refunding agreements with other nations but has taken no such action in connection with its debt to the United States.

Rumania's debt to last November was $36,128,495 in principal and $9,477,000 in interest.

State department officials were reticent with regard to the situation today, but it was evident that the failure of the Bucharest government to initiate debt refunding negotiations and also the continued delay in reaching a satisfactory understanding as to the recently enacted Rumanian mining law, which also covers exploration, was causing considerable concern.

The departure of Mr. Jay to his new post as ambassador to Argentina is being delayed temporarily owing to these conditions.

The Rumanian debt to the United States was contracted after the signing of the armistice. The major portion is in the form of loans made under the Liberty loan act, but there was in addition a transaction involving the acquisition by Rumania of surplus American supplies in France at $12,000,000.

Because the Rumanian loans were made as relief measures after the war, they are regarded by the Washington government as in a wholly different category from the war loans to other allied powers. Rumania is similarly aided by the other powers after the war and these loans have in some cases been arranged on a refunding agreement. It is understood that Mr. Jay has presented what amounts to a protest against the failure to take similar steps with relation to the debt to the United States.

In addition to the mining law difficulties, resulting from clauses which are held to be discriminatory against American oil interests which have acquired in a legitimate way oil prospects in the Rumanian field, there has been great delay by the Bucharest government in adjusting private debt claims by American commercial and industrial concerns. The feeling in Washington that Mr. Jay cannot be spared at the moment from his duties in Bucharest because of this unsatisfactory situation is coupled with a hope that the communication he has now presented will stimulate the Rumanian government to the working out of an understanding which will cover all of the points under discussion.

JAY CONFERS WITH DUCU

Bucharest, Rumania, April 14.—Peter Augustus Jay, the American minister, had a long conference today with Foreign Minister Ducu. It is believed the American minister presented a note regarding the Rumanian debts to the United States.

A Bucharest dispatch Monday night announced the indefinite postponement of the departure from Bucharest of Mr. Jay, recently appointed minister to Argentina. It was generally believed, it was stated, that the postponement was due to the attitude of the Rumanian government toward settlement of debts to the United States.

The judge is said to have shown marked improvement since his return from Florida and had been playing golf of late.

Sketch of Life.

The funeral of Judge Kelly will be conducted from State Street Methodist Episcopal church, south, Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Dr. J. S. French, a life-long friend, being in charge.

Born in Smyth county, Virginia, March 4, 1867, Judge Kelly was the son of Judge John A. Kelly and Martha Beck Kelly. He received his education in public and private schools, taking his college degree at Emory and Henry college in 1886. He later attended the University of Virginia, where he was made a bachelor of laws in 1890.

R. A. Ayres, a former attorney general of Virginia, was the first law associate of Judge Kelly. The two practiced at Big Stone Gap from 1889 to 1895. In the latter year, the jurist entered the firm of Bullitt and Kelly, which association extended until 1909, when Judge Kelly was chosen to the corporation court bench at Bristol. He sat in that capacity until 1915, when Governor Westmoreland Davis appointed him to serve his first term on the supreme court of appeals.

Judge Kelly was a trustee of Emory and Henry college, a Methodist by faith, and a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity. He was married July 29, 1896, to Miss Mary Eloise Hull, of Marion, Va.

NEW POSTAL RATES IN EFFECT TODAY AT LOCAL OFFICE

New postal rates recently adopted by congress will go into effect at the Atlanta postoffice Wednesday and copies of the new regulations and rates have been sent to all citizens of Atlanta, it was announced Tuesday by Postmaster E. K. Large.

In first-class rates only one change has been made. This relates to private mailing postal cards which will require a two-cent stamp under the new rules instead of a one-cent stamp as formerly. First-class letters remain at two cents an ounce while government post cards will continue to be sold at one cent each.

Slight increases have been made in rates on second, third and fourth-class mail according to Postmaster Large. The state of new rates is Large. Printed in the copies of the regulations distributed to Atlanta residents. The increases in rate are quite small. In some cases new service fees have been added for handling various types of special delivery packages and parcels.

WILLIAM Y. HOLLAND DIES AT HARTWELL

Hartwell, Ga., April 14.—(Special.)—William Y. Holland, 76, prominent citizen, Confederate soldier, died here yesterday afternoon.

Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Mollie Bradley Holland, and the following children: Mrs. Emory E. Satterfield, William E. Holland, Robert L. Holland, Alton B. Holland and Miss Mary Holland, all of Hartwell; three sisters, Mrs. Marie Irvin, Artreville, S. C.; Mrs. Lillie Sitten, Rock Hill, S. C.; and Mrs. Ida Anderson, Atlanta.

Funeral services were held at the home this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment in the Hartwell cemetery.

Russian Prince Still Hopes To Regain His Vast Estate

SUES TO RECOVER TWO REMBRANDTS

New York, April 14.—Prince Felix Youssouff, head of an erstwhile wealthy royal family of the old regime in Russia, still hopes to recover his vast estates, before the revolution estimated to be worth $350,000,000, although they were now in the hands of the bolsheviks, he testified today at the second day of trial in the supreme court of his suit against Joseph E. Widener, the Philadelphia financier, for recovery of two Rembrandt portraits.

Prince Youssouff, a debonair figure, held the witness stand the entire day in his legal battle to regain the two Rembrandts "A Gentleman With a High Hat," and "A Woman With an Ostrich Feather," which Mr. Widener acquired from him in August, 1921, by payment of 100,000 pounds sterling. Prince Youssouff, who values the paintings at 300,000 pounds, told today of having refused offers from the late J. P. Morgan and the late Senator William A. Clark of 200,000 and 225,000 pounds respectively.

He contends that the transaction by which they passed to the Philadelphia financier and art collector was really a chattel mortgage, while Mr. Widener holds that he bought the art treasures outright.

Under cross-examination by Mr. Widener's counsel, former Governor Nathan L. Miller, the prince testified that he contemplates the formation of a corporation to develop coal and oil lands once owned by his family, now in the hands of the soviet government. "Then you expect your estate in Russia to be restored to you?" Mr. Miller asked. The answer was an unqualified "yes." The prince said he wanted the pictures back so they could be returned to Russia if he came again into the Youssouff estates.

Violent Death Takes Another Virginia Judge

Bristol, Va., April 14.—For the second time within the brief space of less than three months violent death visited the bench of the Virginia supreme court of appeals today when Judge Joseph L. Kelly was found dying in the basement of his home here. A shotgun was the agency of death in both instances.

The first visitation was on last February 8, when Judge Frederick W. Sims, president of the court, took his own life at a Richmond hotel. Today Judge Kelly died thirty minutes after he is said to have stumbled and fallen while carrying a shotgun to the basement of his home in search of rats. The entire family, one child entered the jurist's side.

The men were successors of each other on the same bench. Both had risen from associate judge to be president of the court in a legitimate way.

TEN ARE INDICTED IN PROBE OF FAKE INJURY "SERUM"

Cape Girardeau, Mo., April 14.—The federal grand jury returned indictments late today against ten Ripley county residents on charges of using the mails to defraud in employment of a "serum" to produce swellings and discolorations of the flesh to substantiate fake personal injury claims. Bonds were placed at $10,000 each.

Those indicted were Emanuel Gartman, alleged leader of the ring, already under arrest; Cleveland Doyle, John Waller, Olean Lerod, Barney Ray, Thomas Little, Newton B. Little, Newton Creach, Olan Creach and Carl Pickett.

MONTEZUMA PASTOR TO PREACH IN MACON

Montezuma, Ga., April 14.—(Special.)—Rev. Fred E. Smith, pastor of the First Baptist church of Montezuma, has accepted an invitation to conduct a series of meetings at Mabel White Memorial Baptist church of Macon, beginning April 19. Mr. Smith also has been invited by Superintendent H. H. Hargrove to deliver the commencement sermon in Ellaville, May 26.

COAST HIGHWAY PLANS NEARING COMPLETION

Jacksonville, Fla., April 14.—Realization of a dream for a Maine to Key West paved highway of "unsurpassed beauty, tourist and military value to the nation" is near, in the opinion of F. O. Miller, president of the South Atlantic Coastal Highway association, which convenes here Thursday and Friday of this week in its annual convention.

A record attendance, estimated as probably reaching 4,000, is expected, according to officials in charge. Motorcycles from Daytona, Fernandina, Fort Lauderdale, Fort Pierce, Miami and other east coast cities are planned along with the presence of John Curley, mayor of Boston, Massachusetts and other notables yet unnamed.

The association during the convention is also expected to see a change in name.

Florida's part in the construction of the highway is being rapidly carried out, according to A. V. Snell, manager of the Jacksonville chapter of Commerce, who calls attention to the fact that contracts have been let for the St. Mary's River bridge, arrangements made for the building of 100 miles of hard-surfaced road between Daytona and Miami, and the route in excellent condition already as far south as Homestead, Fla.

The official program calls for addresses by F. O. Miller, president of the association; Mayor John T. Alsup, of Jacksonville; M. C. Ferebee, of Norfolk, Va.; Fred G. Warde, of Brunswick, Ga.; A. V. Snell, of Jacksonville; Harvey Granger, of Savannah; Lieutenant Colonel Gilbert A. Youngberg, U. S. A., Jacksonville; W. R. Secker, president of the Atlantic Coastal Hotelmen's association; Clement S. Ucker, Senboard Air Line, Savannah, Ga.; E. G. Sewell, president of the Miami Chamber of Commerce; Dr. J. W. Simmons, Brunswick, Ga.; R. E. Toms, federal highway engineer in charge of southern states, Montgomery, Ala.; W. S. Maxwell, president of the Miami Automobile club; Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, president of the Western North Carolina Institute, Asheville, N. C., and reports by state chairmen in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida and others.

NEW CHIEF GUEST OF PHONE WORKERS

A hundred and twenty-five members of the Southern association of Bell Telephone employees for the general accounting department will hold their quarterly social gathering Wednesday in the form of an elaborate luncheon to be served at noon in the ballroom of the Henry Grady hotel.

J. R. Walsh is chairman of the committee in charge of the event, and an elaborate program has been arranged for the occasion. The chief feature will be the presence of Ben S. Read, the new president of the Southern Bell company, will make a short talk. C. J. Holditch, general auditor, will also speak. John W. Higgins will act as toastmaster.

A series of special numbers will be given on the entertainment program. Those contributing include the George orchestra, the Rich Mandolin club, Charles Carter, tenor; Miss Blanche Thomas, reader; Miss Freida Sullivan, novelty dances, and Mrs. Ruby James Slaton, jazz artist.

GIRL, AGE 12, FALLS INTO POT OF HOT WATER

Tifton, Ga., April 14.—(Special.)—Ruth Bellflower, 12-year-old daughter of Hubert Bellflower of near Brookfield in this county, fell in a tub of boiling water at their home yesterday about noon and was badly scalded. Her condition is considered serious. One had a good time.

COLLEGE AT TIFTON USHERS IN SPRING

Tifton, Ga., April 14.—(Special.)—The South Georgia A. & M. college officially ushered in spring here Saturday when they held their annual spring day. The program included a parade, various stunts, minstrel shows, athletic events and a baseball game.

A large crowd attended and every one had a good time.

Battle Maneuvers To Show Hawaiian Islands' Importance As War Base in Pacific Ocean

'Capture' Will Determine Need of Stronger Fortifications — Fleet Sails Today From California.

BY THOMAS L. STOKES.

Washington, April 14.—The Hawaiian islands, dots in the great expanse of water, hold the key of successful warfare in the Pacific ocean whether it is aimed toward the long unprotected coast of the United States and the Panama canal, or directed toward the Orient. Therefore, if the battle fleet theoretically "captures" them in the coming maneuvers, it would disclose the need of stronger fortifications.

If the battle fleet, with all its auxiliaries, is successful, however, the result will overturn the consensus of opinion among military experts of this government. And if the fleet is unsuccessful, it will prove to all practical purposes that they are impracticable, as the sea forces employed against them are as strong as could be gathered by any other nation, and stronger than most. The battle fleet sails Wednesday from San Francisco for the maneuvers.

Fortifications Not Finished.
The ultimate plan of fortification of the Hawaiian islands is as yet not realized. When it is, the islands will be practically impregnable, in the opinion of military experts, if the United States fleet is in the Pacific. The Hawaiian islands hold the key to the Pacific principally, because they are the only "stepping point" in the 5,000 miles between North America and the Orient. A fleet cannot operate this distance adequately without a base where it can refuel. On the United States has such a base, now being developed to meet all needs, and strongly fortified.

The United States now holds this base. As long as it does, no enemy fleet could operate across the Pacific toward the shores of this country without almost insurmountable difficulties. In the first place, it could not support itself for maneuvering about in the Pacific, or for a drive toward the United States. In the second place, it would not dare to make a drive for the American coast, if the United States fleet were based on Hawaii, well supplied for all needs and ready to cut it off upon its return.

Cannot Defend Coast.
The islands themselves, of course, cannot defend the entire coast from Alaska to the Panama canal. Their prime function is as a base at the cross-roads of the Pacific, in advance nor did he see anything to indicate that a robbery was taking place. Afraid To Tell Story. "They ask why I didn't give an alarm while under police protection at Marietta and Spring streets. It would hurt just as bad to be shot where a policeman is as it would to be shot while at some lonely spot," Coleman said.

Coleman stated that the two bandits "evidently had other confederates who were to meet them because he heard them talking as they rode along, one asking the other, 'Wonder where they are? They were to be here.'"

The robbery was committed some time between 8:35 and 9:45 o'clock, according to the best estimate for Coleman who stated he must have reached Marietta and Spring streets about 8:50 o'clock, and that he looked at his watch while walking to the Collier home and it was then 9:45 o'clock.

No Sign of Wound. Unable themselves to discover any bullet or wound on Coleman's head, Lieutenant Stridman telephoned Grady hospital and secured the services of Dr. C. D. Hoffman, who made a thorough examination, stating that he could find nothing to indicate that any violence had been done to the young bank clerk's head.

"I just know there is some mistake and that Oliver will be freed of all blame in this unfortunate thing before many days. No one could know him as well as I do and not be positive of his innocence."

Mother's Faith Undaunted. Mrs. L. B. Boyer, the mother, added her voice in defense of young Coleman when she said in kindly yet positive tones:

"There is Divine Providence which will not let an innocent man be incriminated for another's crime," Mrs. Boyer said. "The whole matter seems like a huge nightmare. It is preposterous. All of the vile rumors accusing Oliver as well as believe to be untrue and are confident that his innocence will be established in the end."

"I will love him even if he is guilty," the daughter said through her mother.

BRIBERY CHARGED AT SCHOOL MEET

boards of education in general, she had intended no reflection on members of the Atlanta board.

Selection of a history, which has been pending for more than a year, was not decided until after a long debate. Dr. Morris moved that the Gorley book be purchased by the board, and that no report had been made. The chair sustained the point of order when Dr. Morris appealed from the decision of the chair Mr. Hancock's decision was overruled by a vote of 7 to 3. Dr. Morris renewed his motion to adopt the Gorley book which was adopted 7 to 4.

The board took its first step in fighting the proposal to place financial control of the school department back under council, as proposed in the referendum set for June 10, by passage of a resolution denouncing on well's action in setting the election at this time, and by asking the people to endorse the present type of educational control.

Text of Resolution. Following is the resolution which, after introduction by Commissioner W. C. Slate, was adopted unanimously by without discussion:

"Whereas, city council of Atlanta has voted to hold on June 10, a referendum election to decide a charter amendment as to whether school control should be vested in a board of education elected by the direct vote of the people or should be placed in the hands of a board or committee elected by city council.

"And whereas members of this board and students of education in general have made a most careful, painstaking and thorough investigation as to the efficiency of school systems, locally independent and those fiscally dependent upon city council and other organizations, and

"Whereas, the result of such a study shows conclusively that boards of education, elected directly by the people, have been more efficient from an economic standpoint, and from the standpoint of progress of the children through the grades, and

"Whereas, a large number of those most vitally interested in the education in the city of Atlanta believe that the board of education should be elected directly by the people from the various wards of the city, and thus endanger the progress of the school system, and ough investigation as to the efficiency of school systems, locally independent and those fiscally dependent upon city council and other organizations, and

"Whereas, the result of such a study shows conclusively that boards of education, elected directly by the people, have been more efficient from an economic standpoint, and from the standpoint of progress of the children through the grades, and

"Whereas, a large number of those most vitally interested in the education in the city of Atlanta believe that the board of education should be elected directly by the people from the various wards of the city, and thus endanger the progress of the school system, and

"Whereas, the board of education is a body elected by the people as the guardians of the educational interests of the city, and

"Therefore, it is resolved by the board of education of the city of Atlanta, that we deplore the calling of this election by the city council at this time, and especially at a time when schools will be dismissed and teachers and educators scattered throughout the country.

Criticism Is Read. John T. Hancock, president of the board, was personally criticized in the communication from the sixth ward civic forum, read at the meeting by Councilman Harry York, of the sixth ward. The paper charged that the board president has excluded Mrs. Julia O'Keefe Nelson, sixth ward representative on the board, from all important committees; expressed resentment of such action and asked other members of the board "to stop the personal enmity and petty politics directed against the sixth ward and its representative by the chairman."

The communication was signed by M. F. Dowdy, secretary of the sixth ward civic forum, which, Councilman York stated, is composed of active workers of 13 fraternal organizations.

Revision of the budget to transfer sufficient funds to the salaries account to meet payrolls through October, was recommended by the special budget committee, was adopted unanimously, and without debate.

Scrap To Be Issued. It was definitely decided to issue a scrap for November, which would mean that the board will have approximately $100,000 to reapportion to the accounts depleted by the revision. It also will mean, however, that payrolls for both November and December, aggregating about $400,000, must be paid in 1926.

Practically every other item was drained by the revision and Superintendent Sutton told the board that it will mean cutting off custodians of every school and will leave only one janitor for each school with the probability that there will be no janitors at all for a few schools.

Cutting of the force becomes effective today, and the number of employees in the shops will be reduced to five, while the janitor force will be cut one-third.

Oscar Mills, board member from the Ninth ward, introduced a resolution which would transfer from the superintendent to the board the power to nominate assistant superintendents, department heads and clerks and another paper which would prohibit the board president from calling special meetings unless eight or more board members sign a special call.

Action on both papers was deferred to the next meeting.

New Teachers Opposed. Mr. Mills also opposed recommendations of Mr. Sutton that two new teachers be elected to fill vacancies caused by resignations. He stated that it will be necessary to cut down the teaching staff in the near future and advocated starting immediately by consolidating classes in the two cases in question. However, the recommendations were adopted by a vote of 8 to 2. Mr. Mills and Dr. R. M. Eubanks voting against them.

Between $135,000 and $160,000 will be necessary for new text books for next year, according to reports of Mr. Hancock and Mr. Sutton. Council will be petitioned for the money but the matter was referred to the current expenditures committee with instructions to determine the exact amount needed preparatory to presenting the request to council.

The sum of $58,328 is needed to replace worn out books and to buy books for new students in grades between the first and sixth. It was stated while between $75,000 and $100,000 is necessary to supply free text books for students of the seventh and eighth grades.

Study Plan Deferred. A course of study for senior high schools, to become effective in September, was recommended, but action was delayed until the next meeting.

Since Atlanta enjoyed her first season of Metropolitan Grand Opera, years ago, the Georgian Terrace and this festival of music have been inseparably linked.

In Gala Garb To Welcome Opera Week

OPERA WEEK without the Georgian Terrace is not thinkable in Atlanta!

For years "The Terrace" has been the focal point of opera activities—and this year it is better than ever fitted to add grace and a festive air to Atlanta's week of weeks.

It was here on the Terrace that Caruso often loosed that stream of pure vocal gold in his morning's spontaneous arpeggios. Here winsome Bori has held court; here the gray-white thatch of Rothier has bowed in courtly address to hosts of his admirers.

The Terrace and opera are inseparably linked—and scores of reservations have already been received from those who will stay here this season.

From basement to topmost floor the hotel has been renovated. The guest rooms have been re-furnished and re-decorated; the breakfast room and dining room have been newly adorned; the lobby has been brightened by beautiful new draperies and fittings; the palm room has new furnishings, new hangings and new foliage; gaily-colored porch umbrellas and canopies add a lively glow to the terrace—the whole building is in gala attire.

Throughout the hotel every improvement of service, convenience and comfort have been added.

As in years past, tea-dances will each afternoon draw gay throngs to enjoy the music by the Georgette 8-piece orchestra, under the direction of Mrs. Reynolds Clarke, which now renders special music each evening at dinner—from 7 to 9.

Visit the Terrace during Opera Week!

Rates are from $3.50 to $7.00 daily—parlor suites from $10.00 to $15.00. Special summer rates after May 1st.

A new course of study is necessary because the curriculum, starting this fall, will be cut from four to three years because the first class of junior high school graduates will enter senior high school in September.

Beginning next year a tuition fee of $50 per semester will be charged nonresident students at the Atlanta normal schools. At present no nonresident tuition is charged. Establishment of a fee was voted by a count of 10 to 3. Mr. Mills voting against it on the grounds that he did not favor operation of the school.

The long-standing dispute between the board and the Federal Steel Furniture company finally was settled when it was voted to pay $23,223 due the Chicago concern, withholding $1,000 pending placing of some of the lockers at O'Keefe Junior high school in satisfactory condition. The money was for lockers at Boys' high school and Booker T. Washington school which had been held up until O'Keefe lockers were made satisfactory.

The board voted down an offer of A. Ten Eyck Brown, local architect, to draw plans for the proposed new unit for Hoke Smith Junior high school, and decided to ask competitive bids. Mr. Brown had specified that no charge would be made for drawing the plans unless the school is built.

London, April 14.—H. G. Wells is playing hermit on a remote mountainside in southern France, according to a dispatch from Cannes.

A reporter discovered Wells' retreat and was sworn to secrecy by the socialist novelist.

Wells' latest major work was his "Outline of History," which was condemned by some churchmen for explaining the advent of man upon earth as a result of evolution. Some American schools barred the book. Since then he has written several novels.

GLENWOOD MAN SHOT BY OFFICER

Glenwood, Ga., April 14.—(Special.)—Roy Kent is in serious condition here as a result of having been shot this morning about 2:30 o'clock by Frank Bland, county policeman for Wheeler county, who is in jail at Alamo, awaiting the outcome of Kent's condition. Kent was struck on the right side, a bullet piercing the right lung.

It is claimed the officer suspected Kent of having liquor in his car, and the shooting occurred when the car was halted.

POISON FOUND IN BODY OF HARRY CUNNINGHAM.
Chicago, April 14.—Coroner Oscar Wolff announced tonight that arsenic has been found in the viscera of Harry Cunningham, one of the sons of Mrs. Anna Cunningham, who died under mysterious circumstances along with four other members of the family within a period of six years.

Earlier in the day it had been announced that the same poison was found in the organs of Walter Cunningham, another son.

The amount of the poison in the bodies has not yet been determined, however, Coroner Wolff said.

It was announced when the investigation was started that the other bodies probably would be exhumed if poison was found in those already disinterred.

U.S. POPULATION NOW 113,500,000

Washington, April 14.—Unofficial figures compiled here by arithmetical calculation indicate that the population of the United States will be 113,500,000 by July.

This represents an 8,000,000 increase since the 1920 census, when 105,710,620 persons were living in this country.

Of this growth in population, nearly 2,000,000 were credited as immigrants.

grants, the remaining 6,000,000 being native-born.

The natural increase of births over deaths shows an apparent decline in the unofficial figures, and the excess of immigrants over emigrants also has a tendency downward. The census bureau expects the new immigration restrictions to be a material factor in the country's population in 1930.

The bureau of the census is hesitant to make a population forecast, and is waiting for the outcome of the state census, now under way in many parts of the Union, to give it an index of the tide of population.

This census, which is being taken in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New York, Florida, Wyoming, Iowa, Kansas and South Dakota, is separate from the recent agricultural census and is usually taken five years after the federal census.

NUX-HERBS AND IRON

LAXATIVE — DIURETIC — TONIC

PURIFIES the BLOOD
CLEARS the COMPLEXION

Never Causes the Skin to Break Out
MAKES YOU EAT BETTER—SLEEP BETTER—
WORK BETTER AND FEEL BETTER

For Sale by All First Class Drug Stores—Price $1.00

There are two processes continually taking place in your body. One is the building up of your BLOOD, NERVE and TISSUE, the other is the carrying off of the waste matter and IMPURE BLOOD.

For every ounce of food you eat or liquid you drink, there is almost an ounce of waste matter that should be eliminated by the way of your KIDNEYS and BOWELS.

If your LIVER and KIDNEYS fail to do their duty, portions of this waste matter remain in your stomach and intestines where they ferment, sour and decay, causing INDIGESTION, SORE STOMACH, KIDNEY TROUBLE, etc. These impurities are also taken up by your blood and carried to all parts of your system, causing a general run-down condition and IMPURE BLOOD.

NUX-HERBS & IRON acts directly on your Liver, Kidneys and Bowels. It starts to work from the very first dose, does the work surely, safely and quickly. It will work the cold, bile, mucus and impurities from your system in a surprising manner, without griping or pain, and build you up all over.

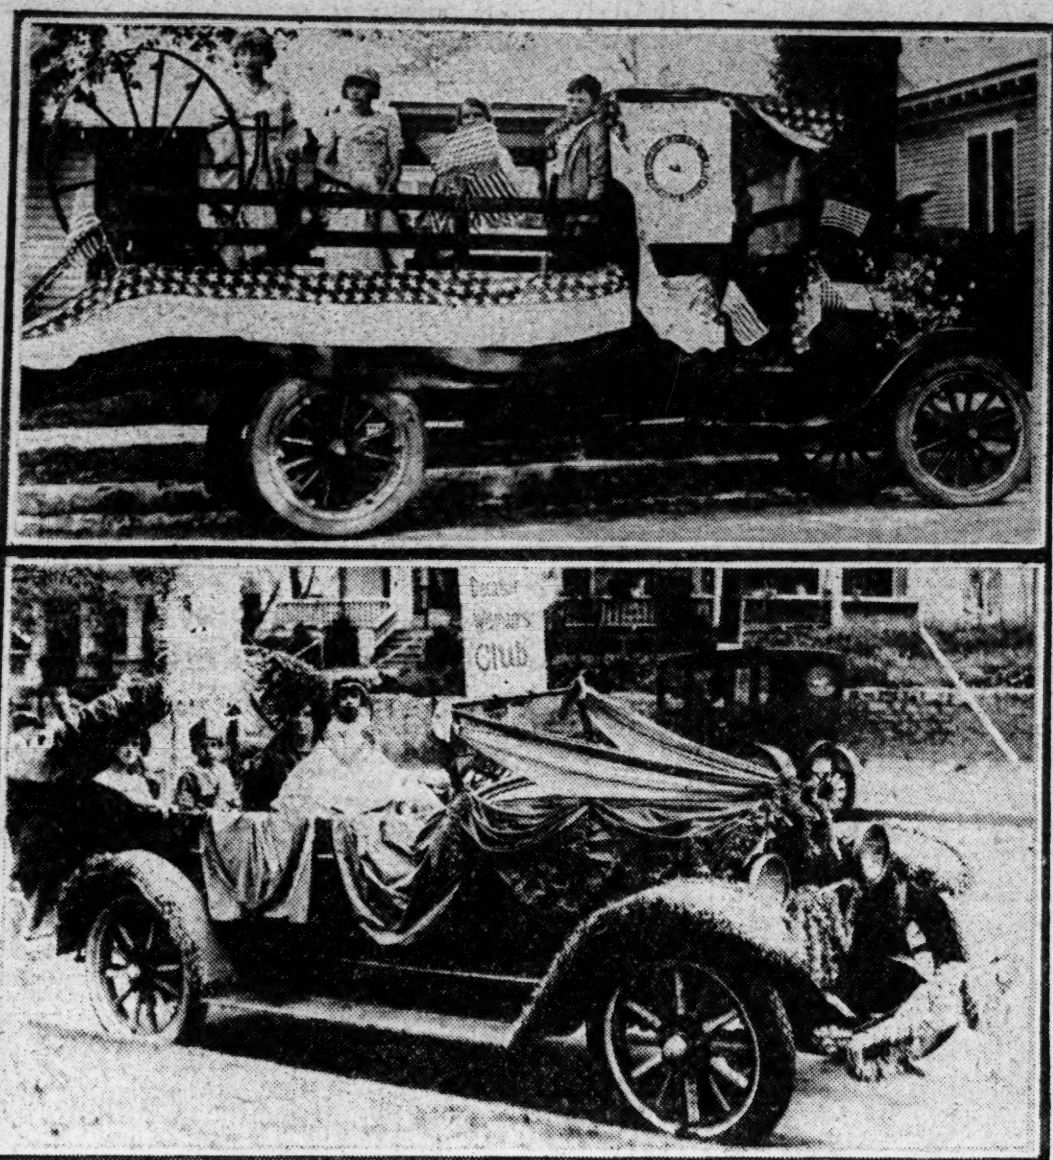

NUX-HERBS & IRON especially recommended for:
INDIGESTION BILIOUSNESS
SORE STOMACH CONSTIPATION
KIDNEY & BLADDER TROUBLES
PAIN IN THE BACK AND HIPS
FURFLES & BLOTCHES
DEAF, LAZY FEELING
TOXIC LIVER NERVOUS SEXUAL DEBILITY
If you are weak and nervous, if you have that tired feeling, you should start taking Nux-Herbs & Iron today. The very first few doses will give you a vim, vigor and vitality such as you have not known in years. It is not a temporary stimulant but is a lasting tonic and system builder.

You may eat or drink anything you wish while taking it. It is good for both men and women. If you are tired of taking medicine and paying doctor bills, get a bottle today. If it doesn't prove to be worth ten times the price you paid for it, return the empty bottle and your money will be refunded at once, without a question. What more could you want?

WARNING—Be sure you get the genuine SPICER'S NUX-HERBS & IRON. Look for the signature on the label.

Nutrition—If your target does not have the genuine Spicer's Nux-Herbs & Iron send your order direct to the Pelvo Medicine Co., Memphis, Tenn. All mail orders filled same day received and sent prepaid by insured parcel post.

Colorful Floats in Decatur "Clean-Up" Parade

Two of the most artistic floats in the Decatur "clean-up" parade held Tuesday. The upper picture shows the display made by the Baron DeKalb Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. DeKalb county was named for Baron DeKalb. In the lower picture is shown the float of the Decatur Woman's club, which sponsored the "clean-up-paint-up" campaign just closed in Decatur.

Decatur, Ga., April 14.—(Special.) DeKalb county's "clean-up and paint-up" campaign, which has been in progress for 10 days, was brought to a close today with a mammoth parade staged by Decatur and sponsored by the Decatur Woman's club, under whose direction the Decatur clean-up was held.

The parade was really in the nature of a pageant, which was featured by the presence of 2,000 children from the Decatur public schools.

Music was furnished by the Marietta band, and the high school fife and drum corps.

Governor Present.

In the reviewing stand were Governor Clifford Walker, Mayor Sims, of Atlanta; Mayor Scott Candler, of Decatur; Charles D. McKinney, L. T. Y. Nash, Mrs. Norman Sharp, Atlanta; C. H. Blount, Mrs. Roy G. Jones, Mrs. W. S. Elkin, Mrs. R. E. White and others.

The parade was led by W. Bayne

Gibson and who was followed by Wiedeman's band. The parade was an hour in passing, and was the largest ever held in Decatur.

Winona Park school, Mrs. C. H. Mason, principal, won first prize of $15 for appearance; Oakhurst school, Miss Mamie Barnes, principal, won second prize, $10; Glenwood and Ponce de Leon schools tied for third place. Mrs. T. N. Fulton is principal of the Glenwood school, and Miss Emmie Davis is principal of the Ponce de Leon school. Glenwood school was a representation of a miniature band of the spirit of music. Ponce de Leon was a burlesque of citizens of Decatur and Decatur characters.

Prizes were awarded for essays to Augusta Roberts, first; Belinda Bush, second, of the high school. Margaret Ridley and Catherine Rappold, of the junior high school, were awarded first and second prizes for essays.

Poster prizes were won by Mary Duke in the high school and Richard Broyles, Jr., in the grammar schools; junior high school won the prize for citizen cooperation pledges turned in. Glenwood school won second; Winona Park school won the prize for greatest collection of tin cans.

County Observed.

Reports from towns and communities throughout DeKalb indicate that "clean-up" week was generally observed throughout the county, and much work was done toward making DeKalb county a healthier place in which to live.

NICKEL PLATE MERGER DELAY HEARING TODAY

Washington, April 14.—Arguments on a request for delay in the Nickel Plate merger hearing, set to begin tomorrow before the finance section of the Interstate Commerce Commission, will be heard in the morning by the full membership under a change in program announced tonight.

One hour has been allotted by the commission for the preliminary hearing, with a view to reaching a decision on the request for delay, if possible, in time to halt the previously scheduled hearing before the finance section or permit it to proceed as scheduled.

The delay was requested by a group of minority stockholders in the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad, one of the five carriers affected by the merger plan, who have opposed inclusion of that company in the consolidation. This group is one of those which have filed intervening petitions with the commission since the consolidation proposal was brought before it by O. P. and M. J. Van Swearingen and their associates and bases its request that the hearing be postponed on the ground that a suit is equity growing out of the merger negotiations is pending in Virginia.

UNIFORM MARKING OF ALL HIGHWAYS SOUGHT BY JARDINE

Washington, April 14.—Simple and uniform methods of designating and marking interstate highways will be discussed by the joint board on interstate highways, which has been called for its first conference here Monday by Secretary Jardine.

The board, consisting of state and federal highway officials, was appointed by the secretary of agriculture at the request of the American Association of State Highway Officials. An effort will be made to adopt standard markers and colors and prevent duplication of the names of main arterial highways of the country.

Waynesboro Revival Closes.
Waynesboro, Ga., April 14.—(Special.)—The revival which has been in progress at the Methodist church here for two weeks came to a close Sunday night.

Large crowds attended the revival and much good was accomplished.

Rev. J. B. Johnstone is the pastor of the church.

LAMONT IS GIVEN DINNER IN ROME

Rome, April 14.—(By the Associated Press.)—Thomas W. Lamont, of the firm of J. P. Morgan and company, was honor guest tonight at a brilliant banquet given by the Italian-American Chamber of Commerce and attended also by Frank W. Stearns, of Boston, close personal friend of President Coolidge. Among the Americans attending were Ambassador Fletcher, Senator David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania, and Henry R. Gay, American author, resident of Rome. A letter was read from Premier Mussolini, regretting his inability to be present.

The visit of Mr. Lamont and Mr. Stearns recently caused reports that they were here to discuss with Premier Mussolini the Italian war debt to America. Both visitors have denied this, insisting their trips are purely personal.

Speaking tonight, Mr. Lamont suggested that Italy attempt to induce American tourists to remain longer in Italy and thus recoup some of the reduced flow of American money to Italy caused by decreased remittances from Italians in America.

He complimented the Italian government for its progress in financial recovery and praised the country's advance in industry.

"I see no signs of public unrest, but, on the contrary, tranquility prevails," he said.

"Italy's balancing of her budget under Finance Minister Stefani's admirable guidance was an extraordinary achievement. It was essential to the comfort and material well-being of the community. For if commonwealths are distracted by the evils of excess inflation, by the pursuance of unsound economic doctrine, their people can not rise above the sordid level of a mere struggle for existence."

ENDOWMENT FUND
OVERSUBSCRIBED IN MERIWETHER

Manchester, Ga., April 14.—(Special.)—Manchester and Meriwether county quickly oversubscribed their quota for the American Legion endowment fund, being assessed at $450, and raising $548.

This drive was backed in Meriwether county by Manchester post No. 88, of the American Legion and their committees were liberally donated to by most everyone solicited.

STORM IN MICHIGAN CAUSES TWO DEATHS

Benton Harbor, Mich., April 14.—A high wind and electric storm, accompanied by a heavy downpour of rain, caused two deaths, wrecked a partly completed factory building and snapped off numerous telephone poles in Berrien county last night. Two men were killed when they came in contact with a high tension wire that had been blown down.

WEARERS OF FURS ASKED TO DONATE TO ANTI-TRAP FUND

Washington, April 14.—Every woman who wears furs will be asked by the American Humane association to give $1 to a campaign fund for elimination of the non-killing steel trap used to capture fur-bearing animals.

Plans for the nation-wide campaign were outlined today by its head, Edward Breck, naturalist and author, before the Washington Humane society.

The visit of Mr. Lamont and Mr. Stearns recently caused reports that they were here to discuss with Premier Mussolini the Italian war debt to America. Both visitors have denied this, insisting their trips are purely personal.

HILL CONSIDERING FLORIDA HIGHWAY TO COST $2,650,000

St. Paul, April 14.—Construction of a $2,650,000 highway in Florida is being considered by Walter J. Hill, youngest son of the late "empire builder," James J. Hill.

Hill confirmed reports Monday that he is organizing one of the largest building and highway construction companies in the world. In connection with the W. J. Hoy company, of St. Paul, he will finance and direct the building of a new $1,000,000 hotel at Olympia, Fla., to be completed by November 15, he said.

WANTS TO SHAKE HANDS WITH MAKERS OF KARNAK

"It's Made Me Feel 30 Years Younger and I Am Gaining Weight Every Day," Says Atlanta Man.

HE SUFFERED MISERY FOR TWO LONG YEARS

Garnett St. Citizen Was Almost Ready To Give Up in Despair When He Started Taking the Remarkable New Medicine.

With statement after statement pouring into the Karnak offices, each apparently more remarkable than the other as evidence of the tremendous health-building powers of this sensational medicine, Atlanta and Georgia are clamoring for more Karnak.

When such convincing proof of the remarkable results being produced by Karnak as that of J. B. Prater is offered, it is no wonder that the sales of this new medicine are smashing records everywhere.

Mr. Prater, who resides at 94 Garnett St., states that his heart is so full of gratitude for what Karnak has done for him that he would like to shake the hand of the maker of this amazing medicine.

"It's the most wonderful thing in the world to me," says Mr. Prater. The very first bottle overcame a case of stomach misery that had defied all medicines and treatments for two years. It is absolutely amazing what this medicine will do.

"For two long years I was in the clutches of this awful stomach trouble. Everything I ate would make me suffer torture afterwards, with sharp pains. I would blot up with gas until I was so miserable I couldn't sleep. Sometimes it seemed like the pressure on my heart was so great it would stop beating."

"I was always belching and continually suffering from headaches that seemed to settle right between my eyes. My kidneys were all out of order and my back got so lame I could hardly get around."

"Of course I didn't have any appetite and I felt so run-down, tired and sluggish that I just lost all my energy. Nothing I could find did me any good and I was just about ready to give up in despair when I heard about Karnak."

"I am on my third bottle now and my stomach trouble has been entirely overcome and I look and feel 30 years younger. I don't ever remember feeling better than I do now."

"Words just can't describe what Karnak has done for me. I eat like a horse and feel as full of pep as a young colt. My kidneys are working normally and I haven't an ache or pain. I am fast a sleep almost as soon as I hit the pillow and when I get up in the morning I feel like a two-year-old."

"I have already gained six pounds and am still gaining. Everyone notices how firm my step is now and the sparkle in my eye and the difference in my general looks and disposition. You can bet, I tell them all, Karnak did it. For this medicine certainly deserves all the praise people are heaping upon it."

Karnak is sold in Atlanta exclusively by Jacobs Pharmacy; in Marietta by Hodges Drug Co.; in Decatur by Elkin Drug Co.; in East Point by Christian's Pharmacy and by the leading druggist in every town.—(adv.)

Authority of President To Remove Postmaster Defended in High Court

Solicitor General Beck Declares That Consent of Senate Is Not Necessary for Discharge.

Washington, April 14.—A picture of the white house with a "let" sign hung was drawn in the supreme court today by Solicitor General Beck in closing argument in the Myers case, through which the president's right to remove a postmaster without obtaining the senate's consent has been challenged.

The solicitor general presented the president's position as opposed by the senate through Senator Pepper, Pennsylvania, in the controversy resulting from the appeal of the estate of Frank S. Myers, which is suing for back pay on the contention that his removal as postmaster at Portland, Ore., was illegal.

Congress should not be permitted, Mr. Beck said, to place the president "in a straight-jacket" by encroaching upon his prerogative to remove government officials. There are 800,000 such employees and the president, he argued, should be unhampered in his right to remove any or all of them.

Mr. Beck held it highly essential in the proper administration of the government that the president should be unrestrained by congress in exercising this right. If deprived of it, he contended, the work of the president would be so impaired and rendered so ineffective that it would be well to close the white house.

Insisting that the constitution intended to create a "strong executive," he protested against "congressional despotism," declaring that unless the court intervened the executive's power might ultimately be strangled by congress.

The office of Comptroller General

McCall also came under discussion during the argument. Senator Pepper defended the law under which the comptroller general is subject to removal by congress, while Solicitor General Beck contended the "interference" of the comptroller general in administrative matters.

Funeral Services For Aged Atlantan To Be Held Today

Funeral services for Mrs. Frances E. Henderson, 68, who died Monday afternoon at the residence, 614 Peachtree street, will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the residence. Rev. Wallace Rogers, pastor of the Trinity Methodist church, assisted by S. R. Beck, will officiate. Interment will be in West View cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Edmund Martin, W. C. Mansfield, W. A. Day, Jim Rawlinston, James P. Wright and W. A. Foster.

Mrs. Henderson was born in Tallapoosa county, Alabama, and had been a resident of Atlanta for the past 32 years. She was a member of Trinity church.

She is survived by a daughter, Miss Perry Henderson; a son, Guy Henderson, of Birmingham, Ala., and a sister, Mrs. Sarah J. Perry, of Dublin, Texas.

RAILWAY SCHEDULE CHANGES APPROVED

The Georgia public service commission Tuesday granted authority to the Southern railway to make changes in its schedules east of Atlanta, as it had petitioned, with the exception that proposed elimination of Norcross and Duluth as stops for trains No. 29 and 30 was not approved.

The Hartwell railroad also was granted permission to change its schedule in order to conform with the connecting line of the Southern, when that road puts new schedules on its Toccoa-Elberton branch into effect on April 26.

One slight change was made in freight classification rules. Poles, not otherwise specified and over 30 feet in length, were placed in class D for carload lots of 25,000 pounds, instead of 24,000 pounds, as formerly.

COL. SAMPLE HEADS RECRUITING OFFICE

Command of the Atlanta recruiting district of the United States army was assumed Tuesday by Colonel William R. Sample, former commander of the 33rd Infantry at Fort Snelling, Minn., it was announced at the local offices of the recruiting department in the Austell building Tuesday.

Colonel Sample formerly was stationed in Atlanta, being inspector of the Atlanta district in 1920 and 1921. He served on the staff of General Pershing in the world war. Colonel Sample has completed 41 years of service in the regular army. Lieutenant F. Morrison, who has been in charge of the Atlanta district for the last three years will remain on duty here as Colonel Sample's assistant.

MICHALOVE SPEAKS TO KIWANIS CLUB

Dan Michalove, owner of the Atlanta Baseball club, and Charles Tway, president of the Hollywood-by-the-Sea corporation, were principal speakers at a luncheon of the Atlanta Kiwanis club at the Ansley hotel Tuesday.

The marimba band of the Hollywood corporation and the Kiwanis quartet furnished entertainment for the occasion. Following the program Kiwanians voted to organize a baseball team. They plan to play the Atlanta Citizens for the benefit of the Home for the Friendless.

Wanted—MEDICINE SALESMAN

Salesman with experience in selling retail and wholesale druggists, has opportunity to join strongly financed Southern manufacturer in developing sale of preparation of exceptional merit, which has met with success wherever introduced.

His work will center largely in the most important cities; and he must be capable of selling on successful terms. Knowledge of medicinal merchandise, the sort that helps the dealer, as well as of selling, is most desirable. He will be backed up during the season with a strong, effective prepared advertising campaign. He will work on a commission basis, with drawing account.

This is a high-grade opportunity that will attract a high-grade, energetic man. The preparation is right; the field is wide; the salary is substantial. Write for full details of past experience and present activities in first letter, and state salary requirements. If possible, enclose two photographs which will be returned.

Pyorrhea is a disease of the gums—not the teeth

You may take good care of your teeth and still get Pyorrhea. Once Pyorrhea secures a firm hold, pus pockets form, gums become weak and flabby, the teeth loosen and fall out no matter how white and sound they may be.

Forhan's means healthy gums

It contains the right proportion of Forhan's Astringent, as used by the dental profession in treating Pyorrhea. Forhan's protects the gums, keeps them in a firm, healthy condition, and leaves the mouth sweet, fresh and wholesome. If you don't care to discontinue your regular tooth paste, at least brush your teeth and gums once a day with Forhan's.

Forhan's is more than a tooth paste; it checks Pyorrhea. Thousands have found it beneficial for years. For your own sake ask for and get Forhan's for the Gums. At all druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.

Sham Battle Plans Completed by Units Of Atlanta R.O.T.C.

BY BEN COTHMAN. On Monday, April 20, R. O. T. C. units of the Atlanta and Fulton county high schools will hold their annual sham battle. The review will be held at 9:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. The review will be under the command of Cadet-Colonel R. S. McConnell, of Tech High. Crack companies from Tech High, Boys' High and Fulton will engage in a competitive drill to decide the best drilled company in the regiment. This title is held at present by Fulton High school.

An interesting and unusual feature of the day will be a sham battle to be put on by companies A, B and C of the Tech High unit. This is the first time that a high school unit has ever put on a sham battle in Atlanta, it is said. The plan is to have the attack of a hill at the northern end of the parade ground by the three companies named above. The hill will be defended by a unit armed with cannon and smoke bombs.

The program follows: Regiment marches onto field; caissons by Second battalion of Tech High and Fulton High school units (boys and girls); battalion drill by Boys' High school unit; fancy drill by Fulton High school unit; competitive drill by star companies of Tech High, Boys' High and Fulton High; special competitive drill; presentation of medals, prizes; review and inspection of all units by Brigadier General A. J. Bowley, United States army, corps area commander; sham battle by companies A, B and C, Tech High School unit.

PHARMACY DELEGATES VISIT STONE MOUNTAIN

A sight-seeing trip to Stone Mountain and other points of interest about Atlanta marked the closing event Tuesday afternoon of the annual two-day meeting of the seventh district branch of the National Association of Boards of Pharmacy, which has been in session since Monday morning at the Ansley hotel.

Several prominent visitors have been attending the gathering, including H. C. Christensen, of Chicago, national executive secretary, W. M. Hankins, of Dayton, Fla., vice president of the seventh district branch, president.

STORE, OIL STATION ENTERED BY THIEVES

The Curtis Drug store, at 250 Peters street, and the filling station of the Texas Oil company at North Boulevard and Edgewood avenue were entered by burglars some time before dawn Tuesday.

While no money was taken from the drug store, the thieves made off with a quantity of knives, candy, perfume, tobacco, etc. Approximately $115 in cash was taken from the filling station safe, it was said. The safe was opened by means of the thief working the combination.

Signal Corps Post Meets.

Organization of a local post of the American Signal Corps association sponsored by Colonel O. B. Meyer, of the regular army, and S. G. F. Rathborne and Captain L. E. Mansfield, of the signal corps officers' reserve corps, has been accomplished, and the association will hold its first formal meeting Friday at 6 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce building. The association is composed of signal corps reserve officers, signal corps national guard officers and civilian communication experts and representatives from allied industries.

ELKS ARE URGED TO SUPPORT PLAN FOR LARGE CIRCUS

All members of Atlanta lodge of Elks are urged in a letter from J. Turner Pitten, exalted ruler, to get behind plans for the hippodrome circus to be staged by the Elks at the clubhouse, 78 East Ellis street, May 2-9, inclusive.

Proceeds from the show will be used in paying expenses of sending the "Purple Devil Patrol" to Portland, Ore., to compete in drills to be held in connection with the national Elks' convention in July.

In his letter, Mr. Pitten points out that the patrol, which is captained by Joe Cook, came within two points of winning the national championship at the Boston convention last year, and has an even better opportunity this year.

DANCE TO FEATURE NEW CLUB OPENING

The Business Men's Social club will open its new clubhouse at 226 1/2 Peachtree street tonight with a dance for members of the club and invited guests.

One of Atlanta's most popular orchestras will furnish music and several first-class cabaret numbers will be featured.

Miss Marion Robertson and Billy Carr will give special acts.

PERSONNEL MEMBERS WILL ELECT OFFICERS

Members of the Personnel Association of Atlanta will hold their annual business meeting and election of officers Friday night at the Blackburn Tea room, it was announced Tuesday by James C. Malone, president. The meeting will begin with a dinner at 6 o'clock.

TWO PERSONS INJURED IN SPLIT OF SWITCH

C. R. Hughes, street car motorman, and Henry Grook, negro, were injured Tuesday morning when a street car split a switch on South Forsyth street near Mitchell street, the car leaving the rails and striking a truck driven by the negro, according to Patrolman Allen, who investigated the case, the accident was unavoidable.

The two were slightly bruised and after medical aid was rendered were allowed to return to their work.

RAGLAND FUNERAL IN CHARGE OF MASONS

Funeral services for Oscar Ragland, 59, who died Monday night at the residence, 132 Lucile avenue, will be held at 12 o'clock Thursday at the St. Luke's Episcopal church. Rev. C. P. Wilcox officiating. Interment will be in West View cemetery.

Battle Hill lodge, F. & A. M., will have charge of services at the grave. He was a member of the St. Luke's Episcopal church, a member of the Battle Hill lodge, F. & A. M., and had been connected with the A. & W. P. Railroad for the past 25 years in the auditing department.

In addition to his widow he is survived by two brothers, W. B. Ragland, of St. Petersburg, Fla., and C. E. Ragland, of Los Angeles, Cal.

LEGION AND DRIVE REPORT WITHHELD

Owing to the fact that several of the special committees were unable to report as to their success in making the final canvass for the American Legion endowment fund, at a meeting which was held at the chamber of commerce building Tuesday, it was decided to withhold the report until Thursday or Friday afternoon. However, all those present felt confident that the fund would be fully subscribed.

One of the most encouraging reports of the committees at the Tuesday night meeting was that made by Mrs. T. C. Stevens, president of the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs. She stated that Mrs. M. M. Nicholas, chairman of the soldiers' relief work of that organization, who has been ably assisted by Mrs. Arthur Hazard, has found the people in a very receptive mood in memorializing the names of the Fulton county boys who fell in France. Among the new names which they had to report were:

Mrs. J. M. Kane contributed $50 in the name of her son, Vincent H. Kane; Mrs. William Fish contributed $50 to memorialize the name of any boy whom the committee might pick out who might not be remembered otherwise. The Atlanta Journal employees contributed $50 to memorialize the name of Captain James Stanley Moore, a former employee of The Journal; Mrs. Hamilton Douglas headed a committee of the members of the Liberal Christian church and secured $50 to memorialize the name of Captain Wade Cooklin.

Over a thousand letters were mailed out by the industrial committee and it is expected that the replies from these letters will go a long way towards putting the drive over the top, together with the solicitations still being pushed by the other committees.

WOMEN LEAGUE HEADS GATHER IN RICHMOND

Richmond, Va., April 14.—Another day of executive sessions tomorrow will close the three-day preliminary work of the board of directors of the National League of Women Voters and all will be in readiness for the initial meeting of the delegates here on Thursday morning. The exact nature of the deliberations of the board was not disclosed beyond that plans and policies were being discussed which might later be put upon the floor of the convention.

Though there are but 435 voting delegates in the convention, officials in charge of arrangements pointed out today that fully one thousand women are expected to attend the sessions before the meetings close on next Tuesday. Hotel accommodations here have all been taken and many delegates will be entertained in private homes. The influx of the main body of delegates began today and tonight many new arrivals were registered at the convention headquarters. Some of the delegations, it was said, are motoring here and will arrive tomorrow afternoon.

Many prominent men and women have been scheduled to address the women voters during the six days of sessions. A comprehensive program calls for a series of committee conferences in addition to the deliberations of the main body and virtually every hour of the day will be filled with activities. Beyond several luncheons and dinners, no extensive social functions have been planned, though visitors will be privately entertained and will be carried to points of historic interest in and near the city.

DEPOSED PRELATE TO PREACH IN EAST

New York, April 14.—The Rev. William Montgomery Brown, formerly bishop of Arkansas, now living at Gallon, Ohio, who was convicted of heresy before an Episcopalian ecclesiastical court in Cleveland last summer, will take the pulpit of Dr. William Norman Guthrie at the Church of St. Mark's in the Bowery next Sunday.

Bishop Brown said he is preparing to present an appeal of his case before the house of bishops at the convocation in New Orleans this fall.

TWO SMALL BLAZES. Firemen Fail To Find Origin of Flames.

Firemen received two calls in rapid succession shortly after 2 o'clock Tuesday morning to extinguish flames in a delicatessen and restaurant at 155 Decatur street and a store at 539 South Pryor street.

The restaurant was operated by Saul Haim, while the store belonged to S. Biner. Firemen have not determined the origin of either blaze.

The diamond industry, after a period of depression, is reviving.

DESPOILERS OF TREES SOUGHT BY POLICE

Despoiling of dogwood trees in Druid Hills brought a complaint Wednesday to Acting Chief of Police E. L. Jett from Forrest Adams, vice president of a corporation in charge of development. A $50 reward for arrest and conviction of the guilty parties was offered.

An Extra Gasoline Tax of from 6 to 20 Cents Per Gallon

Your gasoline bills run into real money.

But have you ever stopped to figure how much of this is in the form of an incredibly high gasoline tax?

Let's see what happens when you leave the Concrete Highway and take to a gravel or a dirt road.

Conclusive tests have proved that a gallon of gasoline will carry you only two thirds as far on a gravel road as on a Concrete Road. On a dirt road a gallon of gasoline will carry you only half as far as on Concrete.

With gasoline at twenty cents a gallon, you would thus pay a gasoline tax of more than 6 cents per gallon on the gravel road and 20 cents a gallon on the dirt road.

These are figures you can't get away from. You can prove them yourself.

And remember that every time you travel on either a dirt or a gravel road you also increase wear and tear on tires and run up your general repair bills.

Why continue to pay these high taxes and get nothing in return but the discomfort and inconvenience of unpaved roads and streets?

Let your local officials know you want an adequate system of Concrete Roads and Streets. They are just as willing to build them as you are anxious to get them.

But they must have your support.

WILD WEST JOCKEYING.

It is not difficult for any student of American politics to see in many of the "Jefferson day celebrations" staged in the west Monday evening a studied and, indeed, an adroitly organized movement, three years in advance of the pre-convention presidential campaign of 1928, to hog-tie the west and south together in the interest of William G. McAdoo, of California, for the next democratic nomination for president.

Referring to the address of a Georgia speaker at one of these southwestern meetings, a sympathetic newspaper boldly claims the prepared address to be in line with this plan of action. "Coalition of south and west adroitly sounded in address before Jefferson democratic club," it admits.

Just how far the movement will proceed before good party judgment and democratic common sense will puncture it, remains to be seen.

Scarcely had the noise of the New York convention subsided before a similar movement was begun in Washington and New York, leaders among the La Follette forces, including a brother of William G. McAdoo who was a La Follette committeeman, entering into the movement. It fell through, due to the judgment of wiser and less selfish heads. Then a broad-viewed movement was made for harmony and peace within the democratic folds, but the Bryans and other McAdoo partisans blocked it.

As it is the party is rocking along in uncharted waters, pilotless, empty, and an altogether sorry-looking bark—and all because of the selfish ambitions of men who would, apparently, rather scuttle the old bottom than have it fall a legacy to any but to the captain of a mutinous crew.

In the name of a party whose traditions are not only sacred, but fundamental in the institutions of this great government; in the name of the record it has made in peace and in war—a record of constructive legislation upon which the economic structure of American finance and commerce have been founded; in the name of the real Jefferson, and the real Jackson and the real Wilson—are there not enough unselfish democratic leaders in the United States, without regard to sections or proposed sectional coalitions, to save the party from the certain final destruction that is ahead of it, unless there is an immediate and a militant arresting of the personal designs upon it?

It is unthinkable that any group of designing politicians, whether governed by eastern or western or southern influence, shall deliberately attempt to combine any two sections of this great country to the party penalization of another. Is the democratic party a sectional, or a nation-wide organization?

Shall the millions of democrats in the east—the one and only section that has furnished a democratic president since the civil war—be kicked out of the party because they do not swallow all of the wild cat vagueries of the west, and of La Follette radicalism?

Shall the south, the cradle of democracy, be divorced from her neighbors and friends simply because designing politicians west of the Missouri, and in the Valley of the Platte, abetted by equally as designing politicians of the south, seek to use the south's solid convention strength in order to control and manipulate a national convention against the will of the overwhelming majority of American democrats?

Is it not true that La Follette's shell of an organization is watching and waiting to form a coalition with those who would throw the sacred traditions of the democratic party into his lap, provided he will agree to promote the ambitions of William G. McAdoo for the 1928 nomination?

All of this scheming and planning and boasted "adroitness" is only shoving the party nearer to the rocks.

The democratic party is nationwide and needs no coalition of sections, or penalization of sections. It is founded upon principles that need no revising or amending by the "broncho busters" of the west. It is too big to be destroyed by the selfish ambitions of a McAdoo, or a Smith, or any other one individual, or group concentrated around any one individual.

The sooner this foolishness about "coalitions" stops, and real democrats, who put party interest above selfish and sinister ambitions, take the situation in hand, and for the sake of democracy and democracy alone, establish complete harmony within, and public confidence without, the sooner will the party have a chance of winning the congressional elections of 1926.

Surely there is enough unselfishness left in the party to accomplish this. If the schemers refuse to listen to reasonable moral suasion, perhaps a sufficient amount of militant persuasion may do the work.

DOING UNSELFISH WORK.

Chairman Candler, of the citizens' committee appointed by Governor Walker to make a survey of the state institutions and governmental departments looking to the preparation of concrete information and recommendations for the legislature, announces that the survey itself is nearing completion. The governmental departments will be taken up next week and then will follow the conferences looking to preparation of reports, recommendations, etc.

Following the submission of the survey commission's report, the citizens' tax reform committee, headed by Eugene R. Black, will begin studies, with an effort to coordinate the two elements of demand and supply.

Those citizens of Georgia—all busy men of affairs—who are giving time and talents unselfishly to these public matters for the educational and economic welfare of all our people, are rendering a valuable service to the state, and deserve the highest commendation.

The commissions are divorced from politics, and are actuated by no other purpose than to help the legislature solve the problems of tax revision, and better school and institutional maintenance.

THE WORLD WATCHING.

Whom will Germany elect as president, Dr. Wilhelm Marx, candidate of a coalition of republican parties, or Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, candidate of the nationalists and monarchists, and of that noisy Bavarian sentiment that still worships the Kaiser?

If the lines could be drawn at republican or monarchist there is no question of the result. True there are millions of Germans, brought up under the easy influences of a favored militarism, who want to see the old order of things restored.

On the whole, however, it is undeniable that the German masses want a democracy.

The election to occur in two weeks, however, cannot draw the line. Great numbers of republicans do not want a coalition with the socialists, and yet in the Marx coalition such is the case. That being true the Catholic vote is largely turning to Von Hindenburg as retaliation against the socialist attacks on the church.

Again war-time patriotism is being appealed to, and will be responsible, no doubt, for hundreds of thousands of votes for Von Hindenburg that would, under other conditions, go to a republican candidate.

It is to be earnestly hoped that Von Hindenburg will be defeated. It is regrettable that he has not a stronger and more popular candidate with whom to measure swords.

If Von Hindenburg is elected there can be only one interpretation—that Germany is ready to scrap her experiment at democracy and fall back into the old lines of Kaiserism, even though the test should not be a fair and a representative one.

The election is in two weeks. It will be watched with keen interest throughout the world.

The best time to buy real estate is when nobody wants it. The best time to sell it is when everybody wants it.

The best town in the state can do nothing if left to itself. It must have the help and cooperation of its people.

Briefs From Billville.

The weather doesn't pay any attention to those who don't agree with it. Even trying to blow it up with dynamite doesn't make the least impression.

Also, we don't get anywhere by finding fault with Providence because it rains on the Sunday school picnic, or the house burns down while we are singing psalms in meeting.

Enemies are necessary. Without them, we'd have to blame our troubles on our innocent friends.

Is dat why you astormin' go? Beakase you got a stormin' go?

Tell me, Mister Thunder.

When you is up so high?

How come you don't feel satisfied?

Whid no place in de sky?

You des like human creatures—so you keeps on growlin', high or low!

The Bethany Republican hits it off about right in this one—

"You man, blunder along through life like the man who picks out a negro story to tell, names the characters Pat and Mike, and then repeats the dialogue with a German accent."

The Whole Blessed Family!

One has to hand it to the serviceable "old Ford" in this moving story from the Atlanta Journal.

"A dilapidated, topos old Ford, carrying 14 persons, excited much curiosity Sunday on its way through Emporia. The tourists apparently were one family—all of them with sunburned skin and hair. The driver, a small girl, and a woman holding a baby in her lap were on the front seat. Bumping on the fenders with arms stretched over the engine hood in order to hold on were two small boys. Two other children were on the running boards and were holding to the sides of the car. Six children were in the back seat. Besides the passengers, there was bedding and the usual camping equipment."

An April Song.

With what a symphony of sounds, And perfumes and colors, the world abounds!

The flush of the morn, the blush of the rose,

The delicate tints which the sunset shows;

The firefly's faint glow on the dew-scented grass;

The chirp of swift wings as the swallows pass;

The carol of birds, the murmur of bees,

The wind's wind's song, as it sings to the trees;

The lilting laughter of rippling rills, Poured from the hearts of the mothering hills;

How starlike the bloom of the dog-wood shines,

Against the dark green of the southern pine;

When raindrops dimple the dust, What rare,

Effusive fragrance floats through the air;

What charm, when violets peep through the mold

And dandelions show rosettes of gold;

With beauty and song, the earth is a thrill.

Taking No Chances.

When, as "the prince of the powers of the air," the devil is making up a hurricane, it would be too risky to "call him down." Perhaps that is why the Adams Enterprise runs this local item—

"We hardly think it would be wise to start a subscription for a new church steeple—at least until we are through with the spring and summer storm seasons. Just when we had finished the old steeple, that lightning struck and set fire to it, and an unfriendly hurricane did the rest. So we'd better wait a little longer before we take another chance."

HER.

She used to take my hand and we would walk all over the little town and she would tell me all about that time when she was a little girl and what she did and the things she thought about.

I felt very close to her.

As I grew older and learned to do things about the house and in the yard, I took more interest in all that she did, for it seemed that she never treated a minute or ever complained about being tired.

Her spirit followed me to school the first day and then continued until the school days were over—until the larger schoolroom was reached and she had kissed me goodbye and went away forever leaving me quite alone in a misunderstanding world.

How well I remember her that last day. If all the gathered and most priceless pearls of the world had been placed about her throat, they could not have enhanced her beauty. Her shoulders were a little bent from the daily toil. But her face always held its serenity. The broad brow was full of furrows, more lovely than the paths of the stars.

And you could feel the reflection of the gold in her heart when she smiled. Whatever she did, wherever she might be, she did for someone else. She never spared herself. If she thought that someone somewhere was hungry, she could not eat.

But what a sense of humor she had! What a poet she was. And when an artist, as well as a lover of books. We sat propped up against the claspboards of that little front porch many an hour, and talked of our favorite kings and queens from every corner of the world.

That was years ago. I thought of her a long time this morning, when, upon waking very early I heard the mixed calls of the birds as they seemed to be practicing for the spring festival. I remembered how she loved them and how she told me of their gentle ways and how they ministered to happiness in an uneven world.

I remember how delicate her hands were and how beautiful. They were the hands, however, of a worker.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Greater Than A King.

"The final and supreme authority is so far as the pupils are concerned is the teacher," says a legislator in Tennessee discussing certain new educational decrees in that state. This is a good old English maxim, dating back to the reign of Charles II. Once a monarch visited Westminster school, Bishop, the head master, conducted him into the school without uncovering. "It would never do," Bishop explained, "for the boys to think that there was anyone greater than himself." King George, on being told this incident, when he visited the school once told the present master, Dr. Gwyn, to resume his cap. Final and supreme authority in education for the teacher is a laudable basis, but there should also be an encouragement of independence, research and inquiry.

The Red Retreat.

From Russia comes a frank avowal that even state socialism has proved a failure. Lenin withdrew from pure communism with his "new economic policy." His successors have made a further retreat and are ready to allow private trading and private capital to operate without restriction. The experimentation with communism comes to an end for the time being. For no one could imagine for a moment that because the application of communist principles has failed to produce Utopia that the international agitation and the propaganda of the communists will attempt again. Even in Russia. At present that country is heading toward disaster. It is returning to the capitalist mode of production. When the situation improves they will have another try. But in the meantime probably no more churches will be ready for a change. For the communists claim that their system will only function properly when it has been adopted universally. The retreat is therefore called "a strategic temporary withdrawal." The phrase is reminiscent of Hindenburg's last campaign. "Temporary" in such connections seems to signify only that it is to be followed by other and more far-reaching retrenchment.

Herriot's Defeat.

The difficulties experienced by the Herriot administration make some observers see the swinging of the pendulum in conservative direction. Yet the only indication that the old bloc national is regaining its influence lies in the election of M. Millerand to the senate. Compromise in the matter of the vatican embassy came from within the ranks of the Herriot followers, though the opposition naturally took all the credit for accomplishing a terrible blow to Herriot's church policy. Because Millerand has been elected there are already voices which predict a fall of Herriot and a return of a Poincare-Millerand ministry. The pendulum is swinging but the parties of the left still have it under control. Before a Poincare ministry France will first have a government headed by Briand and Painleve and Caillaux remains a highly speculative character in both instances. The parties of the left have a majority. They can remain in power for years if no wedge is driven into their solid phalanx by the opposition.

Saw Good In Heretics.

The case of a Catholic priest who came to the aid of a Methodist congregation when it had lost its church by fire, excited wonder, surprise and ended with a resolution providing for the building of a new church in New York state. It is rather curious that an act of Christian charity should be so unique that it causes surprise in gathering of Christians. At that the world is progressing. In former times rival congregations would send up a hymn of thanksgiving if a church belonging to another denomination had been struck by lightning. And yet there were always men who saw good even in heretics. Saint Francis de Sales was a notorious offender in this respect and on his death over 60 books anathematized by the church. Has the establishment of school banks been of any real benefit to the school children and how are they conducted?

School savings banks are modeled after real savings banks. Each child has his own deposit book in which deposits are entered, the teacher or principal of the school acting as banker. The report of the committee on the current situation during the school year 1923-1924, $14,991,535 was saved in these banks in the United States, the number of schools embracing the system being 9,980. Does it take more posts to build a fence over a hill than it does on a flat surface?

No. It takes the same number, as the posts would be perpendicular to the same base line in both cases.

Do elephants, in their wild state, always go off to hide when they become sick or very old?

Elephants, as do other wild animals, when they become old or sick, go off to themselves to an inaccessible place where they will not be disturbed and die there.

What is a lodestone?

A variety of magnetite which has strong magnetic properties and exhibits polarity.

How much maple syrup in pounds should there be to the gallon?

The weight of maple syrup to the gallon varies somewhat, depending on how much the syrup is boiled down. In some states the weight is set by law at 11 pounds to the gallon.

Is Hattell university exclusively for Indians?

Yes. It was established by the bureau of Indian affairs in September, 1918, being named for D. C. Hattell, who was congressman from this district at the time. The school opened with 14 pupils, and has increased to 586 pupils at the present time. Its courses embrace all grades through senior high school and includes two years normal course and two years nurses' course.

Is there any difference between the tax on shelled and unshelled walnuts shipped into the United States?

Walnuts not shelled are taxed at the rate of four cents per pound when shipped into the United States and 12 cents per pound shelled.

Under what presidential administration was American government established in the Canal Zone?

Under the administration of Theodore Roosevelt.

Who is the American minister at Bern, Switzerland?

Hugh S. Gibson.

Where is the headquarters of the War Machine association?

3224 Highland avenue, Kansas City, Mo.

How did the death rate in the American military forces in the world war compare with the death rate in the world?

The death rate in the American military forces in the world war was 10.5 per cent, while the death rate in the world was 15.5 per cent.

Two members of the Georgia legislature who recently have sustained severe attacks of illness were back on the political scene Tuesday in the lobby of the legislature. Carl N. Guess, representative from DeKalb county and state senator-elect from his district, is out again after several weeks in bed, while Representative J. Herman Milner, of Dodge county, has just recovered from an operation.

I want to thank my friends for the many expressions of good will I received while I was sick. Representative Guess said, "Many of the boys thought I was a hero and sent me messages of cheer, which I was mighty glad to get."

Representative Milner is rapidly regaining his strength after his operation.

I sold my appendix to some doctors and certainly would not buy it back again for any price," he said.

Senator-elect Guess has been mentioned as a possible president of the new state senate, while Representative Milner has been mentioned as a candidate for the speakership of the lower house.

Jackson County Crops.

Farmers of Jackson county are using a lot of fertilizer this year and are preparing to raise some big crops, according to George Bailey, former clerk of the superior court of his county.

"If hard work and energy have anything to do with it we are going to have a banner crop in our county," he reports.

Joe Gaston, Butts county commissioner, is "practicing up" on wearing a dress suit for grand opera week, according to State Senator E. M. Smith, of McDonough.

There must be a tremendous drawing power to this opera in Atlanta when it gets a politician like Joe Gaston in a state of mind where he will wear a dress suit, Senator Smith said.

Crawford Sand Development.

Big development of sand deposits in Crawford county is now in progress, according to Representative M. B. Carr, of that county, who was in Atlanta Tuesday on a business trip.

The building sand in our section is being used in a large scale of construction work in the south," he said.

WHOLE WHEAT OR GRAHAM.

In retaliation for something I said here recently about the difficulty of getting genuine whole wheat flour, two large mills have sent me samples of their genuine whole wheat flour and both milling companies have assured me that their product is readily obtainable anywhere.

Now there is a curious thing about this whole wheat flour. One of these mills sent me a sample of genuine whole wheat flour and a sample of genuine Graham flour—two different products. The other mill sent me a sample of Graham flour which purports to be exactly the same as whole wheat flour, in fact the name printed on the sack is Graham's Genuine Whole Wheat Flour. So there you are. Whole wheat flour and Graham flour is one darn thing or another.

But let us look at the samples a little more closely. First, the miller who offered samples of each says that genuine Graham flour is manufactured from selected soft white winter wheat and contains the entire wheat berry from which nothing is taken away in the milling. He points out that the only difference between genuine whole wheat flour and genuine Graham flour is in the average of 34 per cent of bran and the kind of wheat used, the bran of the hard spring wheat grinding into finer particles than the bran of the soft white winter wheat. Therefore the genuine Graham flour is in the kind of wheat used, the bran of the hard spring wheat grinding into finer particles than the bran of the soft white winter wheat. This miller admits that much of the stuff sold as genuine Graham flour is manufactured from soft white winter wheat, and is not like Graham's original article. It is really the entire wheat. The hard spring wheat used for the genuine Graham flour, Sylvester Graham said, is "a whole wheat berry, perhaps because that was the kind grown near his New England home."

The other miller, whose product is called Graham's Genuine Whole Wheat Flour, tells me that what I said about the poor keeping qualities of Graham or whole wheat flour was correct, for there is likely to be plenty of trouble in warm weather, though not much in cold weather. He further testifies that he knows of no difference between soft white winter wheat flour, and as his product purports to be whichever one chooses to call it, we must conclude that the millers disagree as to whether perhaps the Graham flour and what constitutes whole wheat flour.

We saw the other day how the baking disagree. It is rather pleasant to a doctor, to find that the art of disagreeing is not restricted to any one trade. I am always delighted to point out discrepancies in the world of men. Even the undertakers—if one could discuss such a lugubrious subject frankly and unreservedly.

The Graham's Genuine Whole Wheat Flour looks to me like a cross between the other miller's Graham flour and his whole wheat flour.

Nearly three years ago we consulted two physicians about our 5-year-old boy's belittling. One physician said that the boy was about the only one, and the other said no, the boy would outgrow the trouble. Then we wrote you, and you were kind enough to send some simple instructions which we followed closely, and in a few weeks the boy was over his trouble. Now I have another nut for you to crack. The same boy now nearly 8, has a habit of gritting his teeth.

(D. E. W.)

Answer—I strike out this time. Next time I come to be please give me a low one. But I say, those doctors should be matched for a grand final guessing contest, for it is still uncertain which is the worse guesser. Anyhow, there arises a fine point of ethics. Is it right for a physician to accept a fee for "professional services rendered" when he hands the patron that hokum about "outgrowing" something or suggests an operation which is not indicated by the trouble complained of? He is certainly entitled to fair compensation for his time and for examination, but having completed that transaction as a matter of plain honesty he ought to tell the patron frankly that he doesn't know what to do for the trouble,

Franklin D'Amore, whose exploits of strength during an engagement here last fall are still remembered by Atlanta vaudeville patrons, is sharing honors on Loew's Grand vaudeville program this week with "The Co-Eds," the sprightly dance revue that is touring the Loew circuit. D'Amore and Mickey Loppel do a burlesque aesthetic dance that is a perfect scream of laughter and an amazing feat of strength at the same time. D'Amore is also a comedian and singer worth hearing. "The Co-Eds" include four men and two pretty girls, fast-stepping and blue singing combinations that move with lightning-like speed and offer a new thrill with each motion. Modern Girl Is No Worse Than Those of Other Days

SOCIAL WORKER SAYS PROBLEMS DIFFERENT

The girl of today is no worse and no better than the girl of our mothers' time, but a definite community responsibility for the girl of today exists which did not exist in the days of long ago, when family influence was greater, was the assertion Tuesday of Miss Chloe Owings, internationally-known social worker, who is visiting Atlanta as the representative of the American Social Hygiene association, of New York.

Miss Owings is making an extended study of social conditions in Atlanta, particularly as they are related to girls. She comes to Atlanta with a remarkable record behind her and her recommendations are awaited with intense interest by social agencies of this city.

In social work in America, Miss Owings was the first woman to take a doctor's degree in sociology in the University of France and her thesis on juvenile delinquency, given in prize by the university.

Author of New Book. Miss Owings has just completed a book on the woman police movement in America and other countries, and is considered the leading authority in this country on the subject of women police.

In connection with this phase of social reform, Miss Owings said, "the women police movement has and will solve many of the problems of the future girl because of the fact that their mission is that of prevention rather than punishment. They endeavor to keep the girl from the court and from offenses which will bring her name into criminal files rather than first making an arrest and then finding out the 'why.' In so many cases during the past years, young girls have been arrested and tried for misdemeanors with the sole purpose of finding out 'did they do it' rather than 'why did they do it' and what can be done to prevent others from doing it." Women police must take a purely impersonal attitude in their work.

Denying that girls of America are "bad," Miss Owings said, "conditions have changed since the last generation, the home ties have been lessened by the apartment house and the narrowing of family activities and the community, which has been the innocent cause of this change is, therefore, under greater responsibility to the girl of today than it was to the girl of yesterday. They must furnish a fair substitute for the home activities or the natural tendencies of youth will provide their own amusement, often with disastrous results.

"In the spring," said Miss Owings, "Atlanta schools will release 50,000 boys and girls to the pursuit of amusement. And the thing I am here to find out is, 'What is Atlanta doing to keep these children from taking the wrong paths in their pursuit.' I expect to make a thorough study of courts of the city where cases of delinquent girls are handled and find out what provision is made to correct their errors by other means than imprisonment and humiliate."

"One great responsibility of the community to its young womanhood and manhood is the supervision of amusements and the amusement industry that is another phase of Atlanta life which I intend to investigate while I am here."

Miss Owings expects to spend several weeks in her studies here.

SUTTON IS REELECTED HEAD OF SCHOOLS

W. Gaines, of the Third ward, whose vote in 1921 broke a tie and meant election of the present superintendent, the nomination was seconded by several members of the board, including Dr. R. M. Eubanks, Dr. E. Fred Morris and D. M. Thierfeld. All paid new branches of education which have been opened, with their results. In closing he said, "I will do what I can to carry out the wishes and policies of the board of education, and will do my best to lead in what I think is the right way. I am, of course, in closer touch with the school situation than most board members, and so will give whatever guidance is possible regarding any phases which may arise regarding the schools."

Report Not Allowed. The rebuff at the hands of the board came shortly before the close of the meeting, when Mr. Sutton asked that the business manager be permitted to read reports of his investigations concerning some of the revisions of the rules of the board, a short time previously.

"There is no necessity of our hearing from Mr. McCullough now," Mr. Mills replied. "We have given our orders, and we expect them to be carried out. I move we adjourn."

Mr. Sutton then explained that it was himself, and not Mr. McCullough, who desired that the report be read, but Mr. Mills still refused to permit reading of the communication.

"If the board does not wish my advice on matters pertaining to the schools, I certainly shall not force it on them," Mr. Sutton stated. "I merely wanted to inform the board of what this action may result in. Of course, I will endeavor in every way to carry out orders of the board of education."

A revision of the rules which would strip the superintendent of some powers also was sponsored by Mr. Mills, but no definite action was taken.

The paper proposed would give board members the right to nominate assistant superintendents, department heads, and clerks, instead of the superintendent, as at present. It would leave the superintendent authority to nominate only supervisors, principals and teachers.

Under the rules a change in rules must lie with the next regular meeting, but Mr. Mills plans to urge passage of his measure in May, at which time assistant superintendents and department heads for next year will be nominated.

Reports have been in circulation for some time that changes will be made in at least one department, but Mr. Sutton has declined to discuss the matter.

RANDOLPH DENIES SCULPTOR SELECTION. Kansas City, April 14.—(By the Associated Press.)—Reports published here today that he stated a sculptor had been appointed to complete the Stone Mountain memorial to the Confederacy begun by Gutzon Borglum, were denied tonight by Hollis N. Randolph, of Atlanta, Ga., president of the Stone Mountain Monumental association.

Questioned concerning the reports as he was stepping aboard a train bound for Atlanta, Mr. Randolph asserted that so far as he knew no decision had been made as to who would succeed Borglum. He said definitely, however, that the association had decided some time ago that Borglum would not finish the work.

Selection of a successor is in the hands of the sculptor committee of the association, he said, where it was placed early in March. Mr. Randolph said that he had been away from Atlanta for some time and had received no communication from the association regarding the Stone Mountain project.

Mr. Randolph spoke here this afternoon before the Co-Operative club and was expected to speak later before the local chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy, who gathered at a local hotel in which Mr. Randolph had a room. Three hours after the time set for the address, members were waiting in the hotel lobby and making frantic efforts to find him.

They even insisted that the management open his door to discover if he might be ill.

Despite their vigilance, Mr. Randolph slipped by them and reporters and made his way to the union station.

Modern Girl Is No Worse Than Those of Other Days

SOCIAL WORKER SAYS PROBLEMS DIFFERENT

The girl of today is no worse and no better than the girl of our mothers' time, but a definite community responsibility for the girl of today exists which did not exist in the days of long ago, when family influence was greater, was the assertion Tuesday of Miss Chloe Owings, internationally-known social worker, who is visiting Atlanta as the representative of the American Social Hygiene association, of New York.

Miss Owings is making an extended study of social conditions in Atlanta, particularly as they are related to girls. She comes to Atlanta with a remarkable record behind her and her recommendations are awaited with intense interest by social agencies of this city.

In social work in America, Miss Owings was the first woman to take a doctor's degree in sociology in the University of France and her thesis on juvenile delinquency, given in prize by the university.

Author of New Book. Miss Owings has just completed a book on the woman police movement in America and other countries, and is considered the leading authority in this country on the subject of women police.

In connection with this phase of social reform, Miss Owings said, "the women police movement has and will solve many of the problems of the future girl because of the fact that their mission is that of prevention rather than punishment. They endeavor to keep the girl from the court and from offenses which will bring her name into criminal files rather than first making an arrest and then finding out the 'why.' HOUSTON GRAND JURY TO MEET THURSDAY

Perry, Ga., April 14.—(Special.)—Houston superior court convened on April 6 and the grand jury being empaneled, was dismissed until April 13, on account of the illness of Solicitor General Charles H. Garrett. On April 13 the court met and dismissed the grand jury until Thursday, April 16, when the solicitor general will meet them at Perry and take up the business that will come before them.

There are 35 warrants for various criminal charges to act on by the jury. A large number of witnesses have been summoned to appear Thursday and they will probably be in session two or three days before completing their work.

Judge H. A. Matthews will preside.

ALLEGED VICTIM OF EX-DRAGON DIES

Indianapolis, Ind., April 14.—The 24-year-old woman alleged to have been the victim of an attack by D.

C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan, died today. The young woman had been in a critical condition for several days as the result of poison which she told her parents she took at Hammond, Ind., following Stephenson's alleged attack. Stephenson was indicted on five charges by a grand jury after an investigation.

Stephenson is at liberty under $25,000 bond pending a ruling by Judge James A. Collins to quash the indictments, which charge assault and battery with intent to kill, assault and battery with intent to rape, malicious mayhem, kidnapping and conspiracy to commit a felony.

The young woman had been unconscious for two weeks preceding her death. In connection with Stephenson's indictment, Dr. John H. Kingsbury, the girl's physician, filed an affidavit stating that she could not recover. She was widely known in public school circles throughout Indiana. She has served as secretary-treasurer of the Young People's Reading Circle of Indiana, an organization connected with the public school system and also was formerly employed in the office of the state superintendent of public instruction.

Earl Klink and Earl Gentry, alleged to have been companions of Stephenson, are under indictment with him on the charge of conspiracy to commit a felony. Motions to quash the indictments against them also are pending. The charges against Stephenson, Klink and Gentry were drawn by William H. Remy, county prosecutor, following an investigation of statements given by the young woman and her parents.

Six Months Ago

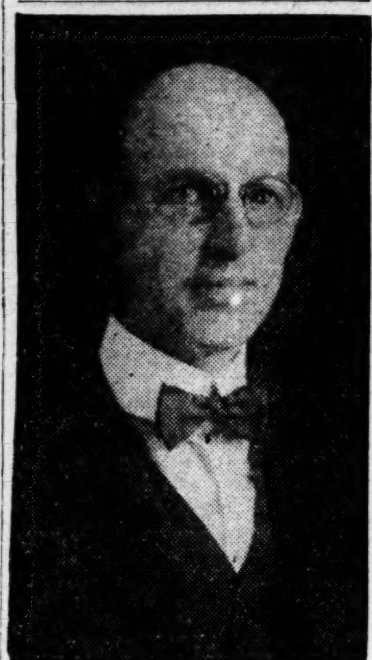

J. H. GASSETT

Macon, Ga.—"I feel like an entirely different man from what I did six months ago, and the credit belongs to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I felt sick and mean all over, every bone in me ached. I had a constant sharp pain in my right side, my food soured on my stomach and caused an unpleasant coating on my tongue, a sick-headache and occasional dizzy spells. I had tried my best to get right but failed, so felt quite discouraged when I first began to take the 'Discovery' six months ago. I feel so confident that nothing could have changed a man in my sick condition to a comparatively well man, but the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I am still taking it—more as a tonic now and to cleanse my system of every particle of poison."—J. H. Gassett, 749 Hawthorne St. Tablets or liquid.

HOUSE RENUMBERING
PLAN TO BE STUDIED

Consideration of a proposed plan for renumbering Atlanta houses will be taken up by the city planning commission at a meeting set for 4 o'clock this afternoon in the mayor's office in city hall.

A revision of the present continuous numbering system, devised by R. W. Torres, engineer and secretary of the planning commission, has been recommended by the city board of consulting engineers as the most practicable and it is expected that the commission this afternoon will vote to ask council to approve that plan.

MEDICAL BOARD
NOW EXAMINING
SLAYER OF GIRL

Manila, April 15.—Court martial to try Lieutenant J. S. Thompson, U. S. A., for the murder of Miss Audrey Burleigh, of Memphis, here this month, will not be convened until a medical board now observing Lieutenant Thompson completes its report. Officials said today it probably would be two weeks before preliminaries for the trial are complete.

The army officer is said to have killed the girl because of jealousy over her partaking in an amateur theatrical performance against his wishes.

Shoots Man 5 Times,
"Forgets" All Details,
Held in $50,000 Bail

New York, April 14.—Ulysses Harris, 30 years old, is so absent-minded that he can't even remember what he's mad about when he gets mad. When he was arraigned Tuesday to explain why he fired five shots into Ray Z. Brown, a stranger, last January, he just shook his head and said it was a mystery to him.

"If you say I shot him I guess I did," Harris told the court. "I've forgotten."

Harris was held in bail of $50,000. Brown said that after the rough stranger had shot him five times and beat him on the head with a black-jack he dropped and pretended to be dead, hoping Harris would desist and go elsewhere. The ruse succeeded and Brown lived to tell about it in court.

SLIGHTLY INJURED
WHEN HIT BY AUTO

J. D. Askew, of 98 Briarcliff Place, was slightly hurt Tuesday morning when struck by a car driven by H. R. Grayson, of 225 Virginia avenue. According to Patrolman G. M. Gorman, who investigated the accident, Askew stepped from his car on Peachtree street, near Ponce street, in front of the car driven by Grayson. Askew's clothing being badly torn and he was bruised about the body. Grayson picked up the injured man and carried him to physicians for medical aid.

A case of reckless driving was made against Grayson.

STOLEN CLOTHING

Mrs. McClintock
Died of Poison,
Chemist Reports

Chicago, April 14.—Direct evidence that Mrs. Emma Nelson McClintock, mother of William Nelson McClintock, millionaire orphan, died of mercurial poisoning was contained today in the official report of Dr. William D. McNally, coroner's chemist, who examined the disinterred body of the woman who died 16 years ago.

William D. Shepherd, young McClintock's foster father and principal heir, is under indictment for murder in connection with the youth's death from typhoid fever last December. It is charged that Shepherd inoculated McClintock with typhoid germs. Dr. McNally, in his report on Mrs. McClintock's death said that sufficient mercury had been found to cause death within ten days, and added that "the amounts found preclude the possibility of its having been administered as medicine."

A final report on the analysis of the organs of Dr. George Olson, brother of Judge Harry Olson, who instigated the investigation into young McClintock's death, is expected in a day or two.

concrete

More cars are destroyed by fire each year in the garage than on the open road. As much money is spent in garages each year as would adequately build new garages for all cars involved.

Own your own garage. Build of fire-proof materials.

Concrete has substance. The Panama Canal, the Candy Bridge and many other mammoth structures have proved its strength and the reliability of Atlas.

Concrete has form. In the Louisiana State university and in other places it has shaped itself to unusual needs.

And now concrete has color. By using naturally colored sand and stone with Atlas, either in its normal gray tone, or pure white, any range of color can be secured, and such color is an integral part of the concrete.

Since it's worth while to do most jobs permanently, it's worth while to insist on using Atlas Portland Cement.

The Atlas Mill at Leeds, Alabama, and sales office in the Brown-Max Building at 2000 First Avenue, Birmingham, Alabama, afford unusual facilities for obtaining Atlas in the South.

5 PASSENGERS RIDE
FOR PRICE OF 1

Effective at midnight last night, April 14th, we abolished the charge for extra or additional passengers.

Naturally, this is experimental. We can't foresee how much it will increase the volume of patronage. VOLUME is the life and soul of the taxicab business. With volume almost anything can be done. If the increase in our volume is big enough, this extremely low rate can be maintained. If not, we will have to talk to you again.

This is the first time in Atlanta cab history that a high-class, financially responsible taxicab company has ever dared to make a rate as low as this.

The announcement should be good news to you. You want our service—system—reliability—safety—responsibility and our type of drivers, and when we make a rate that is as low as is in any city in the world for this kind of taxicab service, we feel that there is little left to be desired and that we merit your consideration and patronage.

We believe that this action will make thousands of new taxicab riders—that it will induce mass riding—encourage people to club together and go to theaters, parties and to and from work, and so divide the cost that it will be insignificant to the individual.

This interesting fact must appeal to you—that

BY GEORGE CONGDON
Sporting Editor of The Constitution
Chattanooga, Tenn., April 14.—(Special.)—Husky swat sticks swung by Boss Bert Niehoff, Wilbur Good and Dutch Krehmyer knocked the Crackers, rated as pennant winners in the Southern league for 1925, into an 8-5, smashing victory over the Lookouts here this afternoon at Chattanooga's largest baseball crowd in half a dozen years watched from stands, bleachers, rows of seats on the playing field and tops of box cars beyond the playing field.

Between 9,000 and 9,500 people watched the game. This gives Chattanooga a good chance for the highest attendance in the class I believe. It was a big day for Chattanooga, bigger than any baseball day it has had in three years just from the standpoint of baseball. Niehoff, Krehmyer had a good club on the field, a hitting club and a fast club at fielding, but he could use considerably more pitching.

The Crackers went out in front definitely only after five innings of hapless pitching by Hollis McLaughlin and Rufus Clarke, with McLaughlin pulling the majority of the honors, including a couple of walks, three hit batsmen and a balk. Clarke did better, but he couldn't get them over. Left-handed Harry Courtney was the boy who was elected to fill the shoes of the hero for the Crackers after he went into the game in the sixth inning, in spite of the fact that the records will give credit to Clarke for the opening-day victory. Courtney was particularly impressive in the final frame when Barnes, first baseman, grounded to him, and he also made Hinkle, a while and a catcher at once, and Bates, outfielder, bite three times.

Pigpaws To Work Wednesday.
George Pigpaws, former Yankee slinger, will start thinking for the Crackers in tomorrow's game. For relief if needed, there will be Hughie Boland, worked down in keeping warm this afternoon in Courtney's weakened, and Jack Slapney, southpaw. Brock will catch tomorrow's game as Joe Jenkins is still suffering from his sprained back. John D. Martin, president of this apple-knocking society, started the dirty work this afternoon by calling a ball and a strike on Frankie Zoeller, half-pint outfielder of the Atlanta club, with Mayor Richard Hardy shouting them down. It might have been well if the big cuban of the Crackers stayed behind the catcher to call strikes and balls. He couldn't have offered a worse exhibition of umpiring than ancient Dan Gossard, whose weakness is deciding a play at the plate while watching second base, or something like that.

Out of the slants of Tom Rogers, last year with the rag-winning Chicks, and George Cunningham, veteran right-handed Lookout, the Crackers looked like a winning team. Erwin Krehmyer, fancy shortstop on Niehoff's staff, went on the field to ear, but it didn't keep him from making the only home run of the game, a slam over left field fence that would have landed in DeKalb county if the game had been played at Spiller field. Niehoff and Good, each with three hits in five times up and a pair of Good knocks were for three sacks.

Dutch Krehmyer caught a hot grounder on the end of the first inning, probably will be out of tomorrow's game. In this event, Mike Gazella will cavort at shortstop.

Get 15 Hits.
In all the Crackers pounded Rogers and Cunningham for 15 hits. With all his wildness, McLaughlin, victim apparently of a buff breeze, gave five hits in three and a half innings. Clarke, another wild man, gave up two in one and a third inning, but Harry Courtney, the southpaw who has seen service with the White Sox and the Senators, held the sluggers of Strang Nicklin off, pinch hitters and all, to three singles in four innings. Not a home run, but the runs were scored at Courtney's expense.

The Crackers cracked down on the Lookouts in the first frame for three hits, one of them a triple by Good, and two runs. Zoeller fled out to Bigelow, but Niehoff came through with a neat single to center and scored when Good banged out his three-base hit to the right field fence. Good scored on Cullip's sacrifice fly. Red Smith knocked a hit into center, but Murphy grounded out to retire the side. Zoeller's spectacular chuck from deep left field squarely into Johnny Brock's mitt was the only thing that kept the Lookouts from scoring in the first. For Crossley left the third sack the instant Bigelow's fly to left poked in Zoeller's paws. Brock tagged Crossley six feet in front of the plate.

Rogers tightened. Rogers held the Crackers without a hit in the second inning and the Nicklin outfit came through with three hits and two runs, the same toll that the Crackers took off Rogers in the first. Anderson started the inning with a double out of Cullip's reach in center and went to third when Bates grounded to Krehmyer. Olivares, Cuban shortstop with Chattanooga, grounded to Niehoff, but Rogers poked one past Red Smith into left field to score Anderson. Crossley walked, sending Rogers to second and the latter scored on Cotton Knaupp's screaming smack into center. Picking off a couple of Rogers' slants in the third, the Crackers went into the lead with one run. Niehoff got his second hit, a single to center, to start the inning, but was forced at second by Cullip's single to left, took third when Smith forced Cullip at second and

GUINN LEADS BOYS' HIGH BEATS SMITHIES; GOLFERS AT TECH

Watts Gunn, Macon boy, who won the Georgia state golf championship last year, was low medalist in the qualifying rounds of the Georgia Tech golf championship played Tuesday over the Druid Hills course.

Johnny Machman, Rome boy, was second low with a 74, and Bill Spalding, captain of the Tech track team, was third with a 76.

PRO TOURNEY AT CHICAGO

Chicago, April 14.—(By the Associated Press.)—The professional golfers' championship will be played on the four courses of the Olympia fields country club, Chicago, September 21 to 26, it was announced today by President George Sargent, after defining the championship for the use of the largest golf club in the world had been completed by Charles M. Smalley, president of Olympia fields.

YANKS RELEASE MARTIN AUTRY

New York, April 14.—The New York Yankees today announced the release of Catcher Martin Autry to the Nashville club of the Southern association; Outfielder John Levi, the Indian athlete, to the Harrisburg club of the New York-Pennsylvania league, and Pitcher Monroe Swartz to the Chattanooga club of the Southern association.

Flying Field Named.

Washington, April 14.—Army orders published today designated the new flying field at San Antonio, Texas, would be named the Duncan field in honor of Major Thomas Duncan, killed in an airplane accident at Bolling field, May 25, 1923.

In the seventh and eighth, but was worked again in the ninth. He singled through second, went to second on Cullip's grounder to the pitcher and scored on Red Smith's smack to center field. Niehoff showed everything he had into the last few innings in an effort to turn the tide against the Crackers. First he sent Hinkle, a good known batter, to bat to hit left-handers to bat against Courtney in place of Anderson. Hinkle, in a pair of times up, lost some of his reputation by flying out to Cullip on one shot and fanning on the other.

In the eighth Bizzy Izzy Band-ringer, who third-based for the Lookouts all of last season, went to plate for Crossley and Burke was sent in to hit for Bigelow, but the batter could do for the Chattanooga cause was pop to Red Smith, who tagged Band-ringer on the path by his single off Courtney's glove in all the crowd of thirteen players who were working for the Lookouts. Dixie Carroll beat out a single through second in the third frame, but the Lookouts didn't score again until the fourth when McLaughlin wild and wobbled himself in a hole and pulled the hole in after him.

DECATUR AND TECH HIGH PLAY TODAY

BY GORDON KEITH.
Decatur High and Marist will attempt to break the triple tie for the league leadership this afternoon when the two nines meet two of the three leaders in what promises to be a corking good diamond match, the DeKalb team facing Tech High in Decatur and Marist moving out to College Park to play G. M. A. Boys' High, the third member of the leading triumvirate, is idle this afternoon, as is Commercial, for the two games being played are scheduled to start at 2 o'clock. The Marist team, which played last Friday when rain interfered with the regular schedule.

The Tech High-Decatur game will likely develop into another pitchers' battle, with neither team having an advantage in dope. If the game had been played last week, according to schedule, the Smithies club would have entered the game as favorites, but after the Hurricane defeat Tuesday the Gold nines is likely to be a very tight game.

Johnnie Moon will draw the Tech High box assignment, with Logansino on the receiving end. Bill Walker will oppose the Smithies, with Kyle catching. Several splendid pitching duels have already been fought out this season, but the Walker-Moon set in Decatur this afternoon promises to rank with the best. Should Tech win and Marist defeat G. M. A., the Smithies would again set the pace, being a half game ahead of Boys' High.

Every G. M. A. player in uniform saw action, and the subs made creditable showings in their initial game of the season. O'Neil and Eaton were the stars with their big sticks, both men enjoying perfect days at the plate with four safeties out of four trips. Ragdale also had an average of a .400, although he faced the pitcher only once, when he was sent in as pinch-hitter in the seventh and drove a long fly over center field that went for three bases.

CHURCH MERGER GROUP ELECTS 3 DELEGATES

Nashville, Tenn., April 14.—Eight delegates who favor unification of the northern and southern Methodist churches were elected tonight by the Nashville district Methodist conference to the Tennessee conference, which will meet here in October.

PETREL RATS BEAT DOUGLAS

Douglas, Ga., April 14.—(Special.)—Oglethorpe freshmen again defeated Douglas, Ga., in a football game, pitched good ball, allowing only three hits, while Oglethorpe gathered 10 off Smith. The work of the whole Oglethorpe team was the feature of the game.

Help of Church In Homogenizing Nation Is Urged

Chicago, April 14.—Development of homogeneity of races in the United States is the foremost task of the church, the Rt. Rev. Thomas F. Gailor, New York, president of the National Episcopal council and bishop of Tennessee, declared tonight in an address before the Church Club of Chicago.

"The first concern of the church today is to homogenize the nation," said Bishop Gailor. "Our country is a mass of races and tongues. This has resulted in a lack of corporate consciousness as to the individual's responsibility to his nation. Too many residents of our nation are here to get all they can out of it and give nothing in return. It is up to the church and to Christians to lend a guiding hand to such persons, to offer sympathy and to develop Americans out of the mass of non-Americans of the present time."

"The second great responsibility of the church is to cultivate a spirit of reverence for our institutions and for law. This means respect for authority of public officials. We need particularly to emphasize the need for discipline of children on the part of parents."

GEORGIA BLOPERS LAND IN NEW YORK AND WIRE PARENTS

New York, April 14.—(Special.)—After they eloped and were married in South Carolina the day before yesterday, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brown came here and are now stopping at the Hotel Roosevelt, in accordance with the message the bloopers sent to J. J. Brown, commissioner of agriculture, father of Brown. Asked by The Constitution's New York correspondent why they had eloped, Mr. Brown said: "Why I don't know any special reason for it, we just did—that's all. You see no one knew we were even engaged, so we just eloped."

LOSS TO U. S. FARMERS PUT AT $5,144,000,000

Washington, April 14.—The Farmers' National Council estimated in a statement today that American farmers realized on the sale of their products last year $5,144,000,000 less than a fair return for their labor would have given them.

Tech Batsmen Keep Up Heavy Hitting Rampage; Play Alabama Thursday

BY MACK THARPE.
Georgia Tech meets Maryland Wednesday afternoon at Grant field in the first of the three games to be played this week by the Yellow Jackets. Thursday Coach Clay will take his hard-hitting aggregation to Tuscaloosa for a two-game series with the University of Alabama.

Just who will be Coach Clay's selection for mound duty is uncertain at this time. Scurry Enloe may come in for the first assignment. Maryland had a bad day against the University of Georgia Monday when Andy Chambers did not allow a single runner to pass the second base sack. The Marylanders connected for a total of seven hits, but they were all untimely. In the Bulldog game they played errorless ball which goes to show that they have a good club.

The Yellow Jackets continued their heavy hitting against the Notre Dame outfit last week when they got seven runs in four innings of the first game, it being called at the end of this inning on account of rain. In the second game the Jackets scored six runs as the result of nine bingles. Angley, Wyeff and Merkle being credited with two out of four and Dennie, Moreland and Morgan getting a safety each.

The win over Notre Dame Saturday made the total six out of seven. The only game the Clay men have dropped this season was with Dartmouth, this game going only five innings, the final score being 1 to 0. In this last affair the Jackets had numerous chances to win, but failed to put over a single runner. They were credited with seven hits while Dartmouth only got four. These four were bunched in the first inning when the first man up placed one in the right field stands, scoring later on a single.

After the two games with Alabama the Yellow Jackets return to Atlanta for two games with Oglethorpe Wednesday and Thursday. Friday they play Auburn the final game at home before the Georgia series.

NURMI TO RUN, THOUGH ILL

New York, April 14.—Although he has tonsillitis and has been advised not to make the trip, Paavo Nurmi intends to go to Minneapolis this week and make his appearance at a track meet there to appease the promoters of the show. "Paavo sent word to the national headquarters of the A. A. U. Tuesday afternoon that he would leave on a 10:30 p. m. train for the west."

Nurmi may run a race or an exhibition in Minneapolis, but if he does not feel much better than he did Tuesday, he probably will refuse to get into his running clothes. The Minneapolis promoters, the A. A. U. said, insisted that Paavo show up at their meet, sick or well.

Miss Moore Weds Mr. Townsend College Set Will At Saint Philips Cathedral Attend Dance at Chapter House

The marriage of Miss Caroline Lockett Moore, daughter of Mrs. Victor A. Moore, and Howard Townsend, Jr., of New York, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Townsend, was solemnized with impressive dignity and elegance on Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock at St. Philip's cathedral on Washington street.

This wedding is of unusual social prominence and importance in eastern and southern society circles. The ceremony was performed by Dean Thomas H. Johnston in the presence of a large assemblage of friends and relatives of the bride and groom.

An exquisite program of music was rendered by the organist, Miss Marion Thomson. Preceding the entrance of the bride party and during the ceremony, "Sanctus," from Gounod's Mass was played. The altar was decorated with ferns and stately palms, which formed a background for the baskets, filled with Ascension lilies, alternating with eleven branched candlesticks, holding white cathedral candles. Floor baskets, holding Ascension lilies, starred either side of the chancel. Lohengrin's wedding march was played as the processional and Mendelssohn for the recessional.

Bridal Party.

Miss Anne Townsend, of New York, sister of the groom, was maid of honor. She wore a Gannon model fashioned from orchid changeable taffeta, showing orchid and blue lights, and veiled in two-toned tulle with orchid and blue predominating, the edges piped in silver. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and orchid sweet peas.

Mrs. Blanton Barrett, of Miami, Fla., the bride's sister, wore a gown of orchid-colored tulle, veiled in tulle introducing two shades of orchid, the skirt piped in silver. She carried orchid sweet peas and pink roses in bouquet effect.

Little Miss Caroline Blanton Barrett, of Miami, niece of the bride and her namesake, acted as flower girl. She wore a frock of sunset changeable silk, veiled with yellow tulle, and carried a French basket filled with yellow and orchid flowers.

Lovely Bride.

The lovely bride was given in marriage by her father, Victor Moore, with whom she entered the church. She was radiantly beautiful in her wedding gown of cloth of silver, fashioned along graceful lines and with a knot of cloth of silver caught at the left side. A court train of white satin was adjusted at her shoulders and her tulle veil was arranged in a becoming cap effect and caught to her pretty head with clusters of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of orchids and valley lilies. She wore a superb diamond necklace set in platinum and a strand of pearls, belonging to the Schuyler family, of New York, and heirlooms in the Townsend family for generations. The groom's gift to the bride was a platinum bar pin of diamonds and sapphires.

Frank Brigham, of New York, was best man, and the groomsmen were Frank Peterson and Tom Barber, of New York.

The ushers were Frank Foster, Eugene Crichton, Henry Robinson, William Blanton, Dr. George H. Noble, Jr., and Robert Williamson.

Informal Reception.

Following the church ceremony an informal reception was given by the bride's mother, Mrs. Moore, at her home on Linwood avenue. Through-out the house palms, ferns and spring flowers were used. In the living room palms and ferns were banked at one end to form a background of the pedestal baskets holding Ascension lilies, before which the bride and groom, Mrs. Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Townsend, the groom's parents, received the guests, including the members of the bridal party, out-of-town guests and relatives. Pink roses, orchid, sweet peas and snapdragons were effectively used in the floral decorations.

Mrs. Moore wore a becoming gown of black Spanish lace veiling chiffon and satin with a cluster of white gardenias on the left shoulder. She carried a bouquet of orchids and white roses.

Mrs. Townsend's gown was a Gannon model of tan georgette crepe, veiling tan satin, worn with a black lace hat and her flowers were orchids and valley lilies.

Mrs. Victor Moore, Jr., was gowned in poudre blue georgette crepe ensemble suit trimmed with white fur and her hat was of blue straw.

Mrs. Varnum's Gown. Mrs. James Varnum, of New York, was gowned in tan georgette crepe, veiling black satin, and her black hat was of Neapolitan braid.

Mrs. William H. Wheelock's gown was of lip-stick red chiffon worn with a red felt hat.

Mrs. Royall Carroll, of New York, was gowned in black chiffon combined with black lace and worn with a hat of black tulle.

Mrs. James Adams Dix, of New York, wore a gown of yellow chiffon fashioned over yellow satin, and her hat was a model of brown straw and tulle.

Will Reside on Long Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Townsend left for New York and will take possession of their handsome new home at Douglass Manor, Long Island, which is a gift of the groom's father.

The bride's traveling gown was a tan ensemble suit, the dress of tan crepe worn with coat of tan bordered with rose cloth. Her hat was a French model in black corded silk trimmed with a stylish little rose-colored feather.

Representative Families.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Victor Moore and spent the past three years in New York completing her brilliant musical education. She is unusually talented and possesses marked ability, having won the scholarship with Mrs. Chittenden in New York, where she studied piano, harmony and pedagogy, afterward studying with Ernest Hutchison. Miss Moore studied music in Atlanta under Alfredo Baril, and in addition to being a finished pianist, she possesses an exquisite soprano voice, which is being trained by Mrs. Reed Miller, of New York. On her paternal side she comes of renowned English ancestry. One of her ancestors, Stephen Moore, was bishop of Virginia, while Benjamin Moore was bishop of New York. Stephen Moore, another relative, sold the site of West Point to the United States government for the military academy and gave the land to old Trinity church and most of Wall street to be used for church purposes. General Winfield Scott, Chief Justice Marshall, Governor Stokes of North Carolina, and Governor Samuel Mathews, of Virginia were her relatives. Mrs. Townsend is a sister to Mrs. Blanton Barrett and Victor Moore, of Atlanta.

Mr. Townsend was graduated from Harvard and is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Townsend. He has been associated with the firm of Crutcher & Sons since leaving school. Mr. Townsend is a representative of the Schuylers, Van Rensselaers and Livingstons, distinguished families representing the oldest aristocracy, culture and wealth of New York.

Out-of-Town Guests.

Among prominent out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Townsend, parents of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. John A. Dix, Miss Anne Townsend, Eugene Townsend, Philip Townsend, Frank Brigham, Frank Peterson, Tom Barber all of New York; Mr. and Mrs. T. Z. Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Russell of Miami; Mrs. James W. Varnum, Mrs. William H. Carroll and Mrs. Royal Carroll, of New York.

Miss Orme Weds Rev. R. A. Belsham.

The marriage of Miss Evelyn Orme and Rev. Richard Albert Belsham, of Augusta, was solemnized Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Aquila Johns Orme, on Peachtree street. Dr. Richard Orme Plinn, of the North Avenue Presbyterian church, and a cousin of the bride, performed the impressive ceremony in the presence of the family.

The auspicious reception rooms were decorated with spring flowers, attractively arranged.

The ceremony was performed in the hall in front of the fireplace. Banners, hydrangeas, roses and palms made a lovely background for the impressive ceremony.

The bride and groom entered together. She wore a lovely ensemble costume of greyish tan point twill embroidered in silver and trimmed with large silver buttons. An attractive small model hat matching the costume and a shoulder bouquet.

The Kappa Deuteron chapter of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity at Georgia Tech will give an elaborate house dance at the chapter house, 90 West North avenue, April 25.

The young girls invited are Misses Corday Rice, Elizabeth Palmour, Marion Wolff, Alice Gayle, Caroline Brown, Lulu Lewis, Billie Johnson, Mary Knight, Mary Lynes, Catherine Ginn, Inez Williamson, Pat Rogers, Emma Frances Brotherton, Harriet Leake, Frances Howard, Louella Everett, Jinx White, Lillian LeConte, Virginia LeConte, Virginia Turman, Dot Bartlett, Helena Callaway, Margaret Keiley, Nancy Linthicum, Laurie Linthicum, Lucia Baldwin and Mellie Zellars.

Atlanta Music Club To Hold Meeting This Morning

The Atlanta Music club will meet at the Biltmore this morning at 10:30 o'clock. Miss Madeline Keipp, lecturer, in presenting her subject, "Acoustics in Music," will have associated with her T. G. Seidell, who will talk on "Generation and Transmission of Music." Mr. Seidell is associate professor of electrical engineering in Georgia Polytechnic institute.

Although rather technical in sound, there will be much in the program to interest the layman as well as the schooled musician for both Miss Keipp and Mr. Seidell will present vital illustrations. They will discuss resonance, the factors in tone production, sound transmission, sound reflections, properties of musical tones, pitch, quality, intensity, overtones and that scientific term so often used, "equal temperament."

Appearing on the program are Miss Santa Mueller, violinist, and Herman Effel, violinist, who will play a viola duet and illustration of the acoustics of the instrument. Mrs. Kurt Mueller will be the accompanist. Miss Louisa Vicker, soprano, first prize winner in the state contest of young artists, will sing the contest pieces, a song and an aria.

Those who are not members of the club may purchase single tickets at the door for 50 cents.

Mrs. George Wight, the president, wishes to call attention to the club library, asking that members get in touch with Mrs. Ben Lee Crew, who has the book list, and who will receive the donations.

of orchids and valley lilies completed the costume.

Informal Breakfast.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Orme entertained with an informal breakfast. The table was overlaid with an exquisite cover of real lace and had a central decoration of roses and hydrangeas in a silver basket tied with a large pink tulle bow. At one end of the table stood the handsome silver coffee service at which Mrs. Albert Orme and Miss Lorena Cook presided.

Mrs. A. J. Orme wore black satin combined with lace. Mrs. William Huger's gown was of green crepe with belt of dark blue suede. Miss Callie Orme wore black satin combined with eury lace and trimmed with French flowers.

Following the breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Belsham motored to Augusta where they will make their future home.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Cox, Mrs. Henry King, Mrs. Kate Orme King, of Chattanooga; Mrs. R. A. Dillard, Mrs. Dick Belsham, Miss Rosa Belsham and Miss Martha Steering, of Augusta.

Prominent Families.

Mrs. Belsham is one of the beloved young women in Atlanta, prominent in the religious life of the city, and popular socially. She was educated in the Atlanta schools, finishing her education at Madame Le Febvre's school in Baltimore, Md.

She is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Aquila Johns Orme, who were among the most prominent and beloved of Atlantans, leaders in the civic, religious and social life of the city.

She is related to many of the notable families of Georgia and comes from most aristocratic lineage. She is identified with the city's social life, and is a leader in philanthropic work. The charming bride is a niece of Mrs. Albert Cox, of Chattanooga, and of Charles E. Harman.

Mrs. Belsham is the aunt of A. J. Orme, Jr., Mrs. William Huger and Miss Callie and Miss Cornelia Orme.

Mr. Belsham, who was born in London, was graduated from Spurgeon's college in London. He formerly resided in Atlanta, and was connected with the Christian and Missionary alliance, and has a wide circle of friends in the city. He is a resident of Augusta, where he has lived for the past seven years and is pastor of the Druid Park Avenue church. He is a man of brilliant mental attainments and is held in high esteem by his large congregation.

Mrs. Griffin Is Luncheon Guest.

Mrs. A. P. Griffin was honor guest at a luncheon given by Mrs. James Armstrong at her home on Ponce de Leon place last Friday.

The table, birthday cake and mints carried out the color scheme of yellow and white. The place cards in rhyme guided the eight invited guests to their places.

The honor guest was showered with gifts and telegrams of good wishes delivered by little James Armstrong and Sam Olive Griffin.

Symphonies of Color and Line---Gowns

For the Opera

DISTINCTLY, gloriously NEW, these are the gowns that will be in the spotlight of fashion the premiere night of the opera. Many are vividly colored—flashes of chartreuse, dashes of vibrant greens. Others seem white from a distance, but they are, on closer view, pale nude tones. Women will choose these pale tones because they are often more becoming than pure white, and just as brilliant. There are straight, slender gowns with the glint of silver or gold about them—in metal threads, crystal beads, or dazzling brilliants. $69.50 to $197.50.

A Georgette Opera Gown, $110

—This is one of a special group at this price. It is a smart black and white print, with distinctive black jabot. Others in this special selection are black and white crystal affairs; all black sequin gowns. All white sequin gowns, with swirls of tulle.

Opera Wraps Revel in Color, too!

—Georgette coats with a slight flare, billowy with fluttering ostrich, have just come in, in time for Opera week. They are remarkable at this price, $69.50. Changeable taffeta coats, in exotic colorings, are $49.50. A "Worth" model coat, for opera matinees, has luxurious beige fox collars, and is priced, $225.

Parent-Teacher Association Opens Sessions in Macon

BY MRS. JOHN TOLIER.
Special Staff Correspondent.
Macon, Ga., April 14.—(Special.)—The address of Mrs. Frank Wessels, president, at the formal opening of the 12th annual convention of the Georgia branch of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, Tuesday evening, was marked by brilliant and eloquent. The keynote of Mrs. Wessels' address was "Democracy Versus Illiteracy," a spiritual note ringing throughout her entire speech.

A. E. Pound, state supervisor of secondary education, gave an eloquent address at the Tuesday evening session. Mr. Pound brought "The Message of the School to Parents." Mrs. Arthur Tufts responded to Mr. Pound's speech. Her subject was "The Message of Parents to Schools." Mrs. Tufts emphasized the need of Parent-Teacher associations to educate the parents along lines that would mean for the betterment of home, stressing that home work was the foundation of Parent-Teacher associations.

The first session of the convention held Tuesday afternoon was featured by the address of Mrs. A. H. Reeve, of Philadelphia, Pa., president of the national P. T. A. Mrs. Reeve outlined the aims and purposes of the national organization. She told of the rapid progress being made by the national and urged the development of leadership and the development of the associations throughout the country.

Much Accomplished.
Reports of district presidents and state officers given yesterday afternoon, proved the magnitude of parent-teacher work being done in Georgia. Especially interesting were the reports of accomplishments by the state rural parent-teacher association. The state president, Mrs. Wessels, of Savannah, Ga., reported 90 new associations formed since the convention of last year, making a total of 440 affiliated associations for the state of Georgia, with a paid up membership of 25,844. Mrs. Wessels' report will be given in full on the Sunday P. T. A. page of The Constitution.

The executive board, which convened Tuesday morning preceding the opening session, voted to recommend to the convention assembled that an invitation be extended by the Georgia P. T. A. to the national congress of parents and teachers to hold its 1926 convention in Atlanta. Bids were made by both Atlanta and Savannah for the national convention. Mrs. George M. Howson, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Wessels, of Savannah, received invitations to be extended at the next national convention to be held in Austin, Texas, the latter part of April. Following discussion and a written ballot, the majority of members of the board voted to recommend to the convention assembled that the invitation be extended to the national congress from the Georgia P. T. A. to convene in 1926 in Atlanta. The convention will not on this recommendation at the Thursday session.

Meeting Opens.
The meeting was opened in the Mulberry Street Methodist church with an invocation by Dr. Rufus W. Weaver, president of Mercer university. Mrs. Charles Hall, president of Macon Council P. T. A., presided over the initial half of the meeting. She introduced Mayor Luther Williams, who extended a cordial welcome from the city of Macon to the several hundred delegates in attendance. W. T. Anderson brought greetings from the Bibb county board of education and C. H. Bruce, superintendent of Bibb county school, spoke a few words of welcome.

Mrs. J. D. Miller, of Gainesville, Ga., prominent figure in the state's parent-teacher work, responded to the addresses of welcome in behalf of the delegates.

The latter part of the meeting was presided over by Mrs. Wessels, state president, who presented the past presidents including Mrs. James R. Little, Mrs. Howard Payne, Mrs. John W. Rowlett, Mrs. J. E. Andrews, Mrs. C. P. Osburn, Mrs. Charles A. Hibbin and Mrs. Bruce Carr Jones.

Mrs. Wessels presented the present officers and district vice presidents. A number of distinguished guests

"FELT SLUGGISH, LAZY AND DULL"
Illinois Man Says He Found Black-Draught to Be a "Good Active Medicine" and Would Not Be Without It.

Edwardsville, Ill.—Mr. Walter W. MacDonald, of 711 Fairview Avenue, this city, says that he has taken Black-Draught, when needed, for a period of ten years or longer.

"I used to suffer," he says, "with indigestion, a tight feeling in my chest after meals—felt sluggish, lazy and dull and out of sorts. I would be very constipated.

"Some one recommended Black-Draught. I began using it and I found it so very satisfactory I have used it ever since. I wouldn't be without it.

"My work is inside. I do not get as much exercise as I would like, and at times my system gets clogged and I would see the necessity of a good active medicine.

"After one or two doses of Black-Draught, my head clears up and I feel like new.

"For stomach or liver trouble, Black-Draught does good."

Thedford's Black-Draught is recommended by thousands of others for the relief of many common ailments due to a torpid liver, needing laxative or cathartic stimulation.

It is purely vegetable, mild, but positive, in action, and leaves no bad after-effects.

were introduced by Mrs. Wessels, who gave brief talks.

The Rev. Dr. Walter Anthony, pastor of the Mulberry Methodist church, gave the invocation of the afternoon session.

The delegates presented their credentials at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning at the Dempsey hotel, convention headquarters in the credential committee, including Mrs. Albert Ehrlich, of Savannah; Mrs. H. L. MacEwan, of Macon; and Mrs. Bascom Murray, of Macon.

The executive board convened at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning, outlining plans and arranging details for the convention.

BEAUTY CHATS BY EDNA K. FORBES.

LONG LASHES.
If a woman has sufficiently beautiful eyes, the rest of her face doesn't matter, there will always be someone to think her entirely lovely. And long eyelashes go far toward making quite ordinary eyes seem beautiful. Therefore, cultivate them carefully!

In spite of much prose and poetry on the subject of long, thick lashes, beauty shops have given little thought to making up a woman's eyes. The skin and the hair, massage, waving, electric treatments, cosmetics and there the beauty doctor's usefulness ends. Eyebrows can be shaved if too thick, but the shaved hairs grow in at once, thin brows can be treated with tonic, but are apt to grow in shaggy if at all, and lashes are tinted with a colored crayon and that is about all. So far no permanent dye has been found to color them, dyes as we know them would injure the eyes. Besides, even dyes would grow out and new applications would have to be put on every week or so.

Therefore, the most satisfactory thing to do is to rub the lashes with a little oil if they are dark, for this makes them darker and so glossy they seem thicker and longer. Besides it improves their health so they'll really grow longer. If they are light, take peroxide jelly or cold cream, and mix soot with it—fine soot from a smoky lamp chimney, or soot made by holding a candle under a glass. A little of this is soon collected and can be scraped into the tiny pot of cream until the cream is quite black.

I have tried this and found the results excellent. A little dark tinge is given the lashes, the darkness spreads to the ends of the hairs, so they seem long, at least, so they show their full length. At night time the dark cream is easily removed with oil or cleansing cream. The merest smudge on a finger this is rubbed gently into the hairs, otherwise, they will look beaded, and even run over the skin when the face grows warm. You need only shadow them with black.

Esther F. G.: If you use a small piece of chamomile on your skin when it has this tendency to shine, it will usually remove it, so there is no difficulty in keeping powder on the face for a few hours at a time.

Cuthbert: Oily skins and oily scalps have their origin in the system, and come from faulty elimination. Trace the cause and treat whatever is making the trouble. You can remove much of the excess oil from your hair if you use soft towels, just as if you were drying it after a shampoo.

Tomorrow—The New Manicure Cream.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editors.

NOTED MORO OUTLAW IS GIVEN LIFE TERM

Manila, April 14.—(By the Associated Press.)—Datu Santiago, most notorious of Moro outlaws of recent years, today was sentenced to life imprisonment for murder.

Twenty-six of his followers were sentenced to 17 years' imprisonment each.

Datu Santiago was charged with responsibility for the death of a lieutenant of the Philippine constabulary, a Filipino teacher, and three other persons in Lanao province, nearly two years ago.

The Love Cycle

BY MILDRED BARBOUR

—and Hal again meets Jane Marlowe, who has grown into a beautiful girl.

THE REVELATION.
Jane bade farewell to Helen and Hal at the door of the latter's office. Young as she was, she realized Helen's eagerness to be rid of her presence. She thought it rather silly, not yet understanding the reasons for the girl's preference for masculine society.

Jane had had no beaux. The tentative efforts at gallantry from boys at school had left her quite indifferent. Romance, to her, was a glamorous country which could not reconcile with modern manners and conditions. She thought of Abelard and Heloise, of Dante and Beatrice, of Pelisse and Melisande, and looked with scorn upon the modern evidence of the so-called love which she saw around her.

She dreamed of a hero, an ideal lover who combined Gallahad and Lancelot. She imagined herself wooed beautifully and ideally by some dashing knight-errant whose armor could never be made to fit the shoulders of the commonplace boys she knew. She wanted a young Romeo who would climb to her balcony for the garden of a rose. She saw herself as the young Juliet sighing to the moon.

Needless to say none of the youths she met at high school measured up to the standards of romance, so she passed rather contemptuously by awkward invitations to football games and school dances and spent her leisure hours buried to the nose in romantic fiction. She read widely and without parental supervision and from it she gleaned a cynical and entirely erroneous idea of men and women and human reactions.

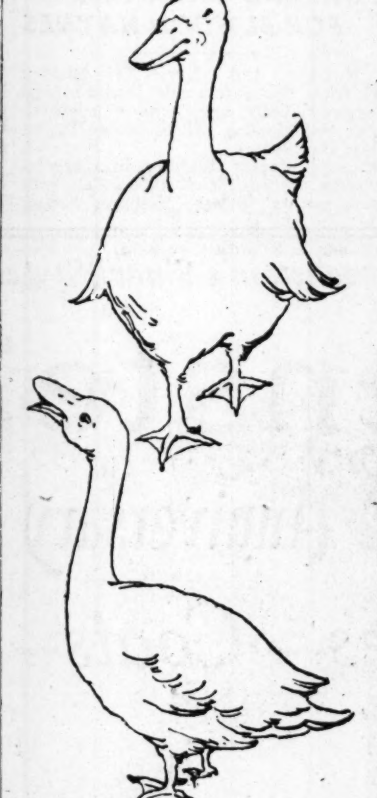

She went out in the darkness of the winter night down the wet, deserted street with complete sang-froid. Where other girls of her age were accompanied by a chaperon or a governess, Jane was accustomed to going alone, because her mother had long ago understood her ability to take care of herself and her resentment against guardianship.

Tucking the books that Mansfield had wrapped for her under her arm and drawing her tam snugly down over her hair, she plunged resolutely into the snow that was fast obliterating the familiar landmarks of the downtown streets. In the darkness, she missed the right turn and found herself alone. The houses wore a blank, hostile aspect, with shades closely drawn and outer doors shut against the storm.

Jane looked about vaguely for a lamp post to point her way; she was

COLOR CUT-OUTS.

Old Mother Goose

MORE GEES.

This is one day's part of the famous old Mother Goose poem. Children who cut out and color these paper dolls every day will have a whole set of them, by the end of the week to act on the story of the poem.

Jack's goose and her gander
They grew very fond;
They'd both eat together,
Or swim in one pond.

Jack found one morning,
As he had been told,
His goose had laid him
An egg of pure gold.

Color both of these geese a sort of slate gray, and add them to Mother Goose's flock. Their bills and feet are yellow. See what happens to Jack's gold egg tomorrow.

beginning to be cold and the snow was sitting in above the tops of her shoes. The fact that the street was deserted caused her no concern whatever. She was only a little angry at herself for having made a wrong turning.

Suddenly the door of a house just before her path opened. A cab had driven up to the curb. Its door opened and a cabman sprang from the box and stood at attention.

Jane stood irresolute. Very slowly her eyes widened at the sight she saw.

From the doorway of the dark, closely shuttered house, she saw her father emerge. He walked slowly, haltingly and he was supported by two people. One was Edward Weston, the other was a woman Jane had never seen before.

She was pretty and very smart. Her hair was dressed more elaborately than Mrs. Marlowe's who always followed an exaggerated fashion. Her waist was slimmer than any Jane had ever seen. Jane caught the flash of jewels on her fingers, and the glint of buckles on frivolous slippers that sunk ankle-deep in the snow.

Her first instinct to run to her father, whom she felt must be very ill, was stifled by something that she read but did not understand in the faces of Weston and the strange woman. She drew back until the cab into which Weston had put her father, climbed in after himself, had driven away. She waited until the woman had gone back into the house and closed the door. Then, she sped as quickly as her light feet could carry her to the nearest trolley.

When she reached home, the household was in a state of excitement. The maid who opened the door informed her that her father had come home very ill, a doctor had been summoned and Mrs. Marlowe who was pouring tea at a fashionable reception had been sent for.

Jane put down her books and stood by the open fire place in the living hall, warming her hands. She felt no alarm, neither did she understand. But that curious wisdom which was later to direct her life and of others dear to her, made the situation clear and understandable. She even felt a little pity for her mother who arrived later, panic-stricken and contrite.

After that night, her father was no longer an ideal to her and when the catastrophe arrived as she was on the threshold to womanhood she accepted it with smiling equanimity. (Copyright, 1925, for The Constitution.)

GYPSE SMITH REVIVAL TO OPEN APRIL 19

Carrollton, Ga., April 14.—(Special.)—Rev. Gypsy Smith has requested that the revival services at Carrollton be postponed until Sunday, April 19. WOMEN VOTERS' BOARD MEETS IN RICHMOND

Richmond, Va., April 14.—The board of directors of the National League of Women Voters went into its second day of executive session here today in preparation for the convening of the seventh annual meeting of the league next Thursday. Miss Belle Sherwin, president of Washington, is presiding over the deliberations of the board.

Though there are not quite 500 credential delegates to the convention the local committee of arrangements has made preparation to register more than a thousand women from all parts of the country during the six-day sessions. Most of those who have already arrived are officials, directors and chairmen of standing committees. The influx of league delegates is expected to begin tonight and will continue through the remainder of the week.

Mrs. Daniel and Mrs. Ansley Will Honor Miss Davis

Mrs. Charles W. Daniel and her daughter, Mrs. Harry Ansley, will entertain at an informal tea Thursday afternoon, April 16, at the home of Mrs. Daniel on East Eighth street, the occasion to honor Miss Winnie Belle Davis, a bride-elect, whose marriage to Charles E. Low will be an event of May, and Miss Jane Walker, Los Angeles, Calif., the guest of Mrs. Flippin Burge.

Receiving with the hostesses will be Miss Walker, Miss Davis, Mrs. Lewis Gregg and Mrs. Tucker McCarty. Miss Pauline Ware will serve punch.

Fifty members of society will be invited to meet the honor guests.

The Return to a Golden Age

An Editorial by James Wallen

Good taste has become a national tendency. We are growing in wisdom and grace. Even Mr. Ford, who told Julian Street that he would not give five cents for all the art in the world, had to round the corners of his radiators to conform to the public desire for better lines in the inexpensive car.

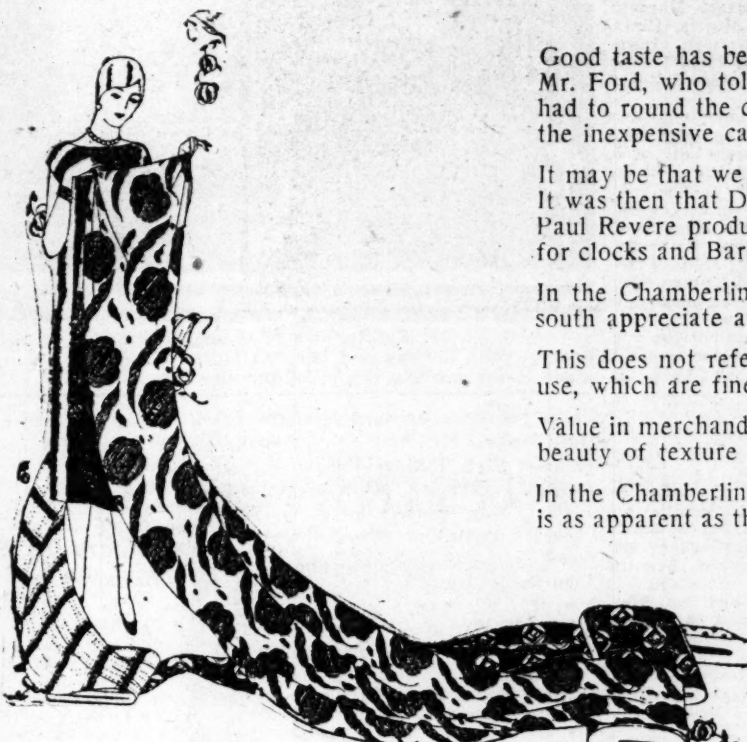

It may be that we shall return to the placid ways of the golden age of good taste in America. It was then that Duncan Phyfe was making furniture, Samuel McIntire was designing houses, Paul Revere producing exquisite silver, Simon Willard and Seth Thomas setting the standard for clocks and Baron Stiegel evolving fairy-like glassware.

In the Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose store there is plenty of evidence that the people of the south appreciate and desire fine things.

This does not refer to articles bearing a high price, but rather to those objects of everyday use, which are finely designed and carefully made.

Value in merchandise consists of good material, honest workmanship and one other element—beauty of texture and pattern.

In the Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose store value is written in the indelible lines of quality. It is as apparent as the sun, as certain as daylight.

The Dainty Lace The Flower The Band of Fur To Trim the Silken Gown

Since the dawn of good taste and style in dress, laces have ever played a prominent part in Milady's attire. Every season seems to add more of beauty and grace to the gown of lace in whole or in part. Here are exquisite wide flouncings for the dress of lace, bands, insertions and edges for those to be lace-trimmed. Especially pretty this season are the colored laces to be used for trimmings or for the entire costume.

Flower Trimmings

The single rose or gardenia for the shoulder, the rows of tiny flowers for girdle or to edge the skirt, the gorgeous large blossom or shower to wear at the waist—all are shown in the most beautiful of colors and at every price from the most modest on up.

Most attractive are the bandeaux of flowers and leaves to be worn as hair ornaments.

Trimmings of Fur

Whether fluffiest of evening frocks, the smart costume for street or afternoon or the coat for dress or sport wear, there is a suitable fur to give a softly becoming touch that no other trimming can rival. There are narrow bands for neck, cuffs, and ruffles, and the wider bands, so smartly correct for trimming just above the hem. One may select from fox in all shades, monkey, ermine, leopard, lapin, squirrel, and many more.

SLAMS SALAAMS

By Louise Dooly

If seeing the world has to be limited for you, as it is for us at present, to commuting between Asheville and Atlanta, and vice versa, you naturally want to make it as adventurous as possible.

Coming south the other day we could have secured space in the palatial Pullman which a beneficent railway system puts on in Asheville at 4 p. m., and lands you at your destination early the next morning; but we have done that so often, it got monotonous.

If we had done it this time, we should have missed the Boston Braves in Greenville, and that mirror of fashion with whom we matched claws.

and meows just beyond the city that has more cotton mills within a radius of a mile—or ten miles—or something—than any other city in the world.

So we started out by automobile from Asheville on a perfect April morning, through a valley of the Blue Ridge, hazy with the hue that gives these mountains their name. There were frequent dashes of red near at hand in budding maples. The dogwood was just giving a hint of what it will be in a week from now, and more and more of tender green kept showing itself the more miles of geography we covered.

Lunching at a hotel in Greenville was tame, but on returning to the lobby whom should we find it all cluttered up with but Boston Braves. Now we did not know all at once and spontaneously that they were Boston Braves. We only surmised by their clothes that they were baseballists, and by the speechless awe with which the assembled multitude of Greenville looked at them, that they were big leaguers.

We heard somebody say Boston, and we saw a big B on each sweater front, and our cross-word puzzle practice stood us in such good stead that we worked it out to ourselves promptly thus: "B—Boston—Boston Braves." Clever of us, wasn't it?

WELL, we sat down in the lobby to look at 'em, and we remembered what we had just heard a newspaperman say in Asheville: "Too bad Babe Ruth is sick, but if he had to be, isn't it lucky for Asheville that it happened here?"

Then we got to wishing that our small nephew were along, whose interest would be really worthy the great privilege we were enjoying all unseeking.

The players were in formal costume, as they were evidently going to play an exhibition for the benefit of the bush league fans.

We wondered who worked out their color scheme, which was neat but not gaudy. Some pre-war designer, no doubt. Compared to this season's golf styles for men, the uniform of the Bean Eaters (we are very proud) of our technical baseball language) is like the garb of their Puritan ancestors compared with the cavaliers the Puritans left Europe to escape competition with.

A slight biological inaccuracy may be noted here by the hyper-critical. Most ball players, come to think of it, are natives, as a rule, of every section of the country except the one their team hails from.

We were distressed, however, by the evidence that the Sons of Swat do not appear as spick and span on close inspection in real life as in reel life. Why, we believe they wipe their hands on their pants.

It was a bit shattering to illusion, also, to see some of the warriors walking through the lobby wearing their shoes in their hands. We are getting used to seeing women expose their ears and their ankles, but for the nation's idols to appear in their stocking feet—well, really!

WE were in a fine humor when we mounted the Pullman in Greenville at 2 o'clock (the fast train from New York to New Orleans) and sat down calmly where the porter placed us temporarily.

He had disposed our luggage—just a suit case, hat box, typewriter, steamer rug and hand bag with the family jewels—under both seats and on top of them, with our coat and magazines surmounting the ensemble. We had just opened our suit case to take out cold cream, face powder and a book, when an apparition standing over us completely arrested all motion as far as we were concerned. "I have lower 10," the apparition said dramatically.

We suspected she was addressing us, so we smiled, although she didn't, and said:

"Can't you find it?"

"This is it," she informed us, with more heat than hospitality.

"So it is," we agreed, as we peered at the number, "and it seems to be pretty full, doesn't it? Won't you be seated?"

"BUT I have reserved this section," she insisted.

We happened to know the train was not crowded—we had heard a trainman say so, as we got on—but—"When a train is crowded, you know," we sweetly informed her, "two people are put in the same section in the day time. Won't you sit down?"

We didn't move, because there was room for her next to the window in the rather ardent April sun, or in the shade with her back to the engine. Anyway, we were interested in her hat, which was one of those sick blues which was to be rouged up to—and she had—and in her dress, which the fashion writers could do no less than call colorful.

We were intrigued no little by her black satin slippers of which the high heels for street use accounted, no doubt for their out-of-shapeness, and also perhaps for the lady's state of mind.

We had on our walking heels, so we were amiable, albeit scarcely picturesque.

"How far are you going?" was her next explosion.

Well, we were not ashamed of it, so we admitted "Atlanta," and we added, "It's really too warm to go on to New Orleans."

Then—"You might be seated," we offered again mildly, "and when the conductor comes, he'll adjust matters."

Two objects cannot occupy the same space at the same time. At least they couldn't when we studied physics. There is no telling what the relativists or the atomists do about it now, although in all their wisdom we believe they would hardly have suggested that the two objects represented by ourselves and the lady who was the proud possessor of a real ticket for lower 10 should try to dispute, or attempt to disprove, the old axiom.

She plumped into the shady seat with her back to the engine.

Then—"I can't ride backwards"—and—"I don't like the sun," she added.

Our natural conversational reaction to this would have been—"Why, you're out of luck aren't you?" or "Too bad this is the only sun available."

But we thought we ought to be magnanimous, since we were enjoying her hospitality, so we only smiled again.

FIVE minutes passed, but nothing else did, notably conductors. Ten minutes—ditto; twenty, thirty-five—just in time to save our hostess from apoplexy—she already had high blood pressure—the conductor—in fact, all two of him, arrived.

Our hostess reached quickly over us, and handed the Pullman czar her bona fide ticket for lower 10.

We handed our plebeian railroad ticket to the other, and then said in our best drawing room style: "One Pullman seat to Atlanta, and I'd like to have it somewhere else than here, please."

"I'll place you on my way back," the conductor said, politely, and so we were the guest for another fifteen minutes of the proprietress of lower 10.

Maybe the conductor was a discerning man or a tactful, because when he came back for us and our equipment, he put us in another car. We transferred from the Beldonia to the Marethusia, or was it the Artopean to the Listuria? Somewhere, anyway, either in the Balkans or the pharmacopia.

And everybody was happy.

In a Sale $1.59

Once before, only a short time ago, we held a Sale of these beautiful garments at $1.59. And we found out we didn't have even a third enough. So we wired post haste for more. They have arrived. Going on Sale today! And if you didn't get to share in the last Sale, you want to be sure not to miss this one!

Beautiful garments. The profusion of embroidery is the first thing that strikes you—hand embroidery, exquisitely done. Then—they're hand made all the way through—the tiniest little stitches! And the material of which they're made is a soft finished, finely woven nainsook.

Gowns and teddies in the lot. The embroidery is all white, it's in color or it shows just a suggestion of color. Some of the teddies have tops edged with hand-made Irish lace, some of them have hand tops hem-stitched by hand; some have colored hand-drawn threads and embroidery such as you find on hand-made handkerchiefs. They're exquisite!

Think of Being Able to Buy Housedresses, Aprons at 98c

Less than $1. Think of the material in them—and we want to mention right here that the material is good!—think of the work on them! How in the world can dresses and aprons like these be produced to sell for a mere 98c? But that's the manufacturer's problem. Frankly, we can't see how he does it.

Woven gingham, plain chambrays and pretty prints are the materials used. The aprons are in loose style with loose belts. Trimmed with rick-rack braid and contrasting materials. Sizes 38 to 42.

The housedresses are of the same materials. They have collars of white rep, self or contrasting materials. In a variety of neat, trim styles: In checks, plaids and prints. Sizes 38 to 52.

Extra Special! Combination Corset-Brassieres, $1.49

Mighty good ones, these are. They're lightly boned over the diaphragm to give a flat front. That's only one evidence of their quality.

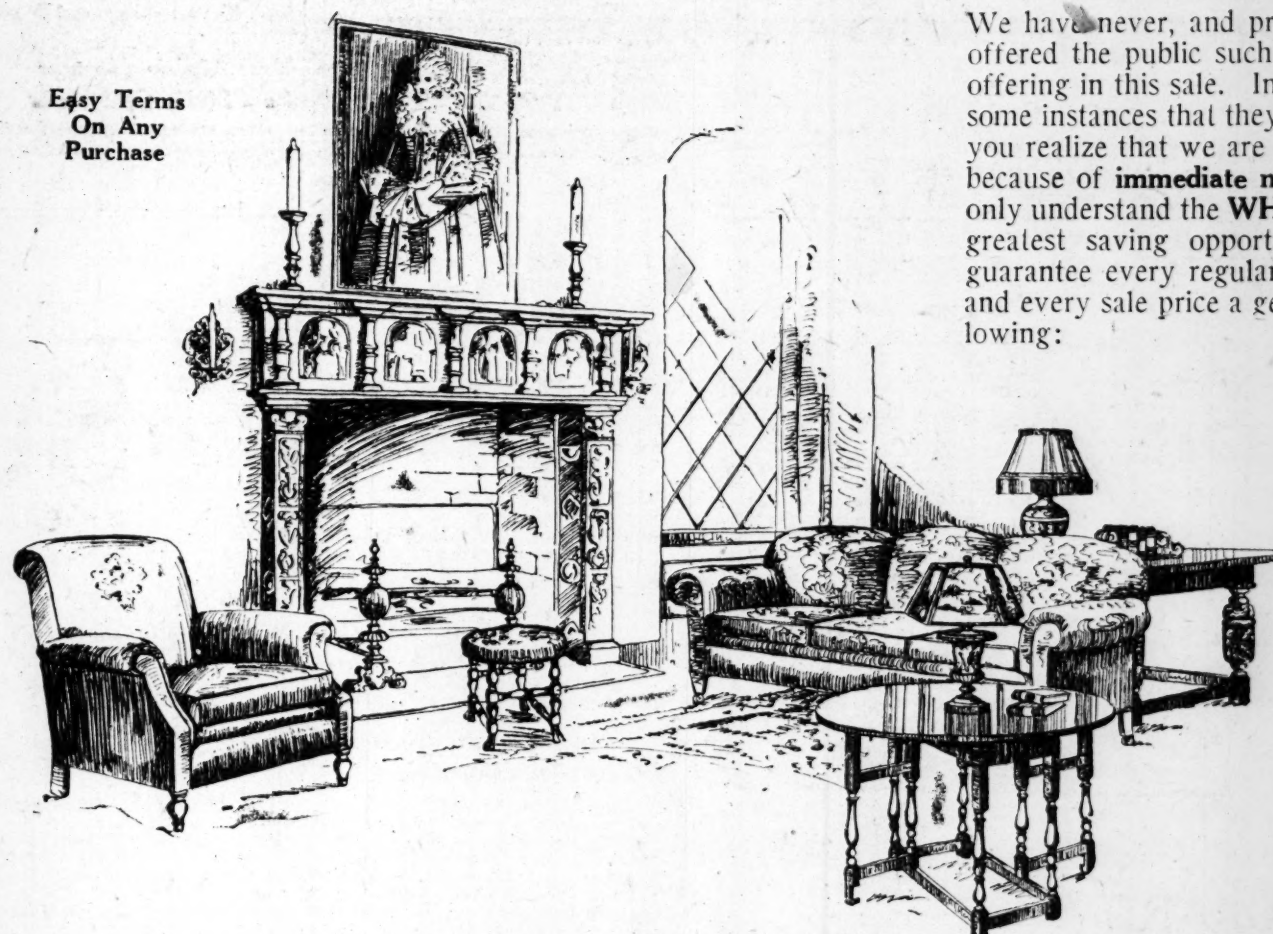

The material is a smooth pink coutil with a lustrous silk stripe. They fasten under the arm and have four elastic hose supporters. Sizes 32 to 42.

Montezuma, Ga., April 14.—(Special.)—J. J. Whatley, farmer and merchant of the Garden Valley district, is suffering from serious injuries received Saturday night when his car overturned on the highway between Reynolds and Garden Valley. Four other men were in the car, all of whom were hurt.

Prominent Opera Guests Will Assemble At Georgian Terrace

The Georgian Terrace, popular local hostelry and always the center of much of the city's social activity, will renew this claim during opera week by reason of the large number of Metropolitan stars and prominent guests from all over the south who have made reservations. With its large quota of opera lovers and guests to center attention and its atmosphere of southern charm and hospitality always prevalent, the terrace will play an important role in the whirl of gorgeous festivities which will feature the calendar of the week.

The hotel has been recently redecorated, freshly painted and adorned throughout for the occasion. The gay orange and green striped awnings lend a festive air to the imposing facade and broad terrace, while the attractive summer draperies and furniture coverings throughout the spacious lobby and palm rooms form an interesting decorative note.

A program of social affairs planned for the entire week has been previously announced.

Among the Metropolitan stars from New York who will be at the terrace are Miss Lucrezia Bori, Giovanni Martinielli, Leon Rothier, Adamo Didur, Giuseppe Danise, Vincenzo Resciglian and Miss Jessie Rogge.

Other guests at the terrace will include Mr. and Mrs. W. T. McCoy, Mrs. W. H. Fitzhugh and Mrs. Grayson W. Catchings, all of Vicksburg, Miss.; Mrs. Tracy L. Acosta, Miss Katherine Acosta, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Miss Mabel E. Heustis, of Mobile, Ala.; Dr. and Mrs. S. S. Schuchert, of Chicago, Ill.; Tilford Leake, of Montgomery, Ala.; M. M. Things to Know Before Baby Comes

YOU may learn the probable date of a baby's birth. What you should have and what baby will need. These and many other important things are fully explained in a wonderful booklet sent free to all expectant mothers.

This booklet also tells when and how to use "Mother's Friend"—the much talked about rubbing preparation which relaxes the muscles and prepares the way for a comfortable period during expectancy and for a more natural delivery at child-birth. "I think 'Mother's Friend' saved my life," wrote one enthusiastic mother. "I was sick not over fifteen minutes," declared another. You will find these signed letters, and many more, in the booklet which you will receive.

"Mother's Friend" has been used by three generations of expectant mothers. Get a bottle today and experience the wonderful effect "Mother's Friend" will give you!

FREE BOOKLET

Write Bradford Regulator Co., Dept. F-6, Atlanta, Ga., for free booklet (sent in plain envelope). Full directions for using "Mother's Friend" will be found with each bottle. "Mother's Friend" is on sale at all drug stores.—(ADV.)

Today will be a great day for values in our Ready-to-wear Dept.

The Lost World

BY SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE

Chapter VII.—Continued.

"Yes, sir, war drums," said Gomez, the half-breed. "Wild Indians, bravos, not manosos; they watch us every mile of the way; kill us if we can."

"How can they watch us?" I asked, gazing into the dark, motionless void.

The half-breed shrugged his broad shoulders.

"The Indians know. They have their own way. They watch us. They talk the drum talk to each other. Kill us if they can."

"By the afternoon of that day—my day—the first one that we met on Tuesday, August 18th—at least six or seven drums were throbbing from various points. Sometimes they beat quickly, sometimes slowly, and, under, one or the east breaking out in a high staccato rattle, and being followed after a pause by a deep roll from the north, and then a series of intertribal rattle-shaking and menacing in that constant mutter, which seemed to shape itself into the very syllables of the half-breed, evidently meaning, 'Watch us, kill us if you can. We will kill you if we can.' No one ever moved in the silent woods. All the peace and soothing of quiet Nature lay in that way from behind there came ever the one message from our fellow-man, 'We will kill you if we follow you,' said the men in the east. 'We will kill you if we can,' said the men in the north."

All day the drums rumbled and whispered, while their menace reflected itself in the silence of the forest. Even the hardy, swaggering half-breed seemed cowed. I learned, however, that day once of all that both Summerlee and Challenger had been in the line of bravery, the bravery of the scientific mind. There was the spirit which upheld Darwin among the gauchos of the Argentine, and the science which had been the life of Malaya. It is decreed by a merciful nature that the human brain cannot think of two things simultaneously, so that if it is occupied with the study of science it has no room for merely personal considerations. All day amid that incessant and mysterious menace our brains were busy with the study upon the wing, and every shrub upon the bank, with many a sharp wordy contention, when the snarl of Summerlee came quick upon us with no more sense of danger and no more reference to drum-beating Indians than if they were seated together in the smoking-room of a bank, and the voice of a St. James' street. Once only did they condescend to discuss them.

"Miranha or Amajacaj cannibals," said Challenger, jerking his thumb toward the west.

"No doubt, sir," Summerlee answered. "Like all such tribes, I shall expect to find them of polysynthetic speech, and of Mongolian type."

"Polysynthetic certainly," said Challenger, indulgently. "I am not aware that any other type of language exists in this continent, but I am sure that the hundreds of The Mongolian theory I regard with deep suspicion."

"I should have thought that even a slight knowledge of comparative anatomy would have helped to verify it," said Summerlee, bitterly.

Challenger thrust out his aggressive chin, and his eyes were so hot that his words would have been all but hateful, had he not been so limited in knowledge. He was a cross. When one's knowledge is exhaustive, one never thinks of one's own knowledge. They glared at each other in mutual defiance, while all round rose the distant whisper, "We will kill you—we will kill you if we can."

That night our canoes were hoisted with heavy stones for anchors in the center of the stream, and made every preparation for a possible attack. The next morning, however, and with the dawn we pushed upon our way, the drum-beating dying out behind us. About 3 o'clock in the afternoon we came to a very steep rapid, more than a mile long, and very one, upon which Professor Challenger had suffered disaster upon his first journey. I confess that the sight of it consoled me, and I felt that the first direct corroboration, slight as it was, of the truth of his story. The Indians carried first our canoes and then our stores through the brushwood, which was very thick at this point, where four whites, our rifles on their shoulders, walked between them and any danger coming from the woods. Before entering we had successfully passed the rapid, and were now some ten miles above them, where we anchored for the night. At this point I reckoned that we had come not more than half a mile up the tributary from the main stream.

It was in the early forenoon of the next day that we made the great discovery. Since dawn Professor Challenger had been gazing continually scanning each bank of the river. Suddenly he gave an exclamation of satisfaction and pointed to a small, dark, pointed tree, at a peculiar angle above the side of the stream.

"What do you make of that?" he asked.

"It is surely an Assai palm," said Summerlee.

"Exactly. It was an Assai palm which I took for my landmark. The river is about half a mile wide at this point upon the other side of the river. There is no break in the trees. That is the wonder and the mystery of it. There is here you see light-green rushes instead of the dark green growth, there between the great cotton woods, that is my private gate into the unknown. Push through, and you will find a new world."

It was indeed a wonderful place. Having reached the spot marked by a line of light-green rushes, we poleed our canoes through them for some hundreds of yards, and then emerged into a placid and shallow stream, running clear and transparent over a sandy bottom. It may have been twenty yards across, and was banked in on each side by most luxuriant vegetation. No one who had not observed that for a short distance the trees had taken the place of shrubs could possibly have guessed the existence of such a stream or dreamed of the fairyland beyond.

It was a fairyland it was the most wonderful and inspiring of any man could conceive. The thick vegetation met overhead, interlacing into a natural percolate, and through this the sun shone in a golden twilight flowed the green, pellucid river, stiff in itself, but marvelous from the strange tints thrown by the vivid light from above filtered and tempered in the air, and the water was no less as a sheet of glass, green as the edge of an iceberg. It stretched in front of us under its leafy archway, and the water was so clear that the thousand ripples across its shining surface, it was a fitting avenue to a one's knowledge is exhaustive, "he comes to other conclusions." They glared at each other in mutual defiance, while all round rose the distant whisper, "We will kill you—we will kill you if we can."

That night we moored our canoes with heavy stones for anchors in the middle of the stream, and made every preparation for a quiet night's repose. Nothing came, however, and with the dawn we pushed upon our way, the drum-beating dying out behind us. The river was a very steep rapid, more than a mile long—the very one in which Professor Challenger had suffered his discomfiture. "I confess that the sight of it consoled me, for it was really the first direct corroboration, slight as it was, of the truth of his story." The Indians carried first our canoes, and then our stores through the brushwood, which is very thick at this point, while we followed our rifles on our shoulders, walked in pairs, and then of danger coming from the woods. Before evening we had successfully passed the rapids, and made our way some miles farther, where we were anchored for the night. At this point I reckoned that we had come not less than a hundred miles up the tributary discharge of the Amazon.

It was in the early forenoon of the next day that we made the great departure. Since dawn Professor Challenger had been looking intently and continually scanning each bank of the river. Suddenly he gave an exclamation of satisfaction and pointed to a tree, the dark, bare, projecting, and peculiar angle over the side of the stream.

"What do you make of that?" he asked.

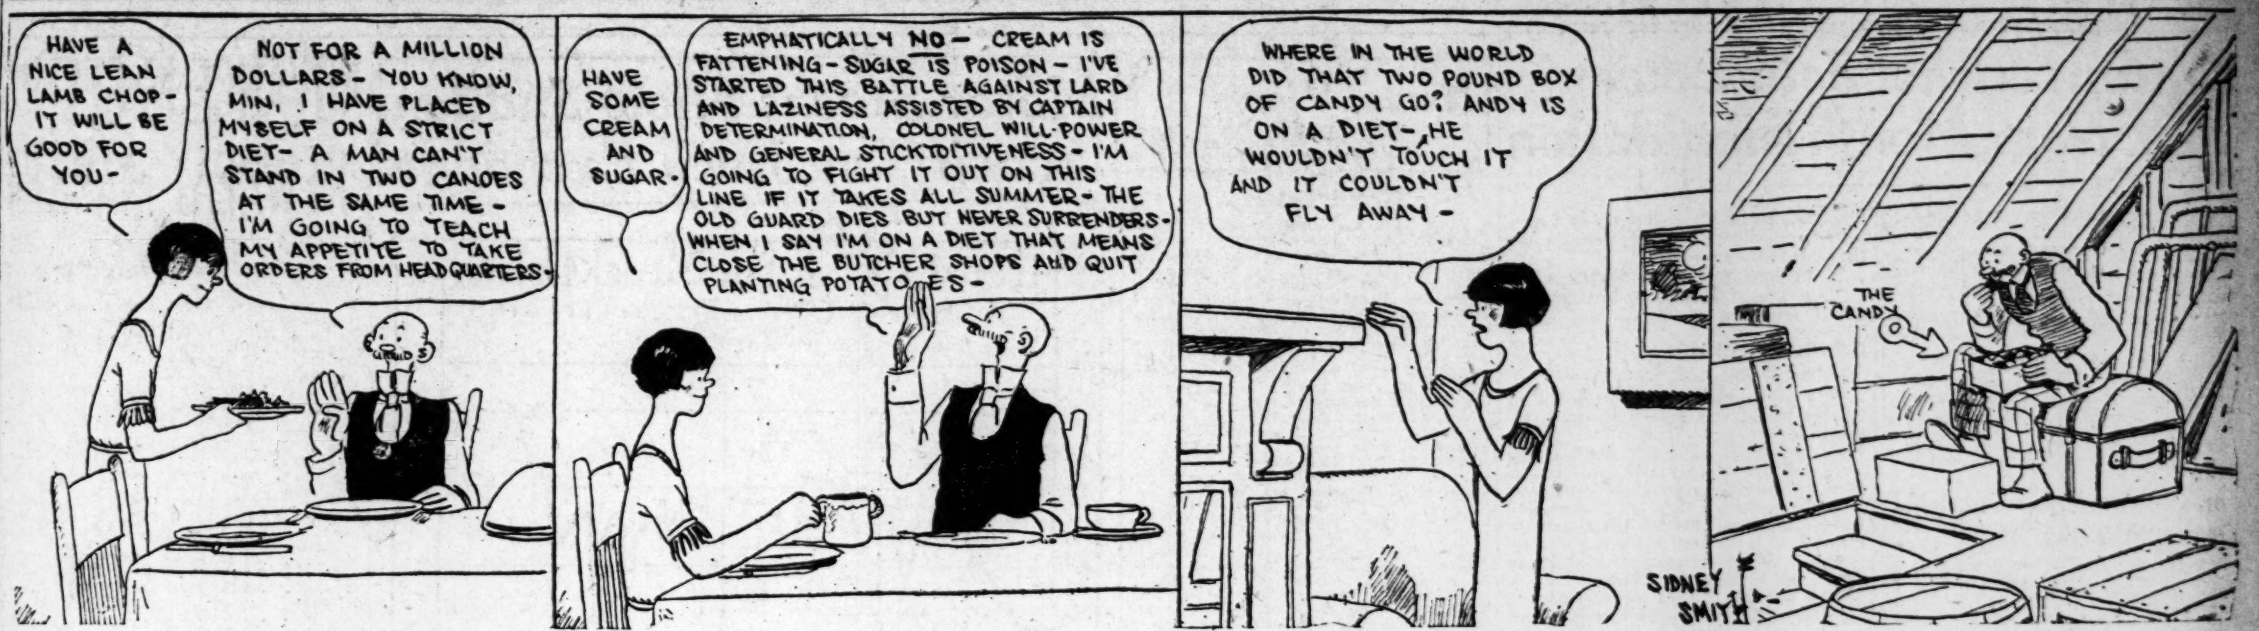

"It is surely an Assai palm," said Summerville.

"Exactly. It was an Assai palm when I took for my landmark. The secret opening is half a mile away upon the other side of the river. There is no break in the trees. That is the wonder and the mystery of it. There is no light, no projection, no bushes instead of dark-green undergrowth, there between the great cottony cliffs, that is my private gate into the underground rush through, and it was indeed 'underland.'"

It was indeed a wonderful place. Having reached the spot marked by our first landmark, we found that our two canoes through them for some hundreds of yards, and eventually emerged into a placid and shallow pool, the water of which lay still over a sandy bottom. It may have been twenty yards across, and was banked in on each side by most luxuriant and dense tropical vegetation, not observed that for a short distance reeds had taken the place of shrubs could possibly have guessed the existence of the underground dreamed of the fairyland beyond.

For a fairyland it was—the most wonderful that the imagination of man could create. The vegetation, station met overhead, interlacing into a natural pergola, and through this tunnel of verdure in a golden twilight light, the sun shone down, and the strange itself, but marvelous from the trifling hints thrown by the vivid light from above filtered and tempered in the shadows of the crystal motionless as a sheet of glassed green, as the edge of an iceberg, it stretched in front of us under its leafy archway, the forest trees and the shining surface, and a paddling avenue to the land of the Indians. All sign of the Indians had passed away, but animal life was more frequent, and the tameness of the creatures showed that they knew nothing of the hunter. Fuzzy little black-velvet monkeys, with snow-white teeth and gleaming, mocking eyes, chattered at us as we passed. With a dull, heavy splash an occasional cayman plunged in from the bank. Once a great army tapir came out from a gap in the bushes, and then lumbered away through the forest; once, too, the yellow, sinuous form of a great puma whisked amid the ferns. The Indians' eyes glared hatred at us over their tawny shoulers. Bird life was abundant, especially the wading birds, and the water was full of little groups, blue, scarlet and white, upon every log which jutted from the bank, while beneath us the crystal water was full with the fish of every shape and color.

(To be continued.)

New York, April 14.—The Bowery recently had a revival of the old-time melodrama but it died in the throes of re-birth. The movies have outdone the old-time formula. The villain choked the lovely heroine and hissed, "Nothing can save you now!"

"Dear me," said a battered old door-choir of brass as the hero bounded in. And: "You jee! American pluck will save her!" received only a loud guffaw and the gentle rap on the knocker. The melodrama about five nights and then departed.

In the old days it would have been cheered to a whisper. Such tawdry plots were the lifeblood of the Bowery. The Pretty Typewriter," ran for weeks and weeks on the Bowery. Then came the morrow and the Bowery exchanged her old love for a new—a habit the Bowery has.

The Bowery is ever emblematic. It loves a lump in the throat. The small room farce of burlesque is a small appeal. The Bowery is a city of escape when one's world goes on the rocks and there is small room for laughing.

In the dim-lit offices of the upstairs lodgers, many are actors in the melodrama of another day. Men, too, who played Polonius and Hamlet, dreary has been living a life of dream—facing the challenge of Middle Age garbages.

The Bowery during the day is as a hundred other streets save for the wayward diffusion of light to the seventh elevation. The brisk shops, mammoth banks and busy department stores. But at night, touched by the mystery of darkness, it is reborn.

There are no stars in the upper windows. There are shadowy figures in doorways. Scavenging cats scurry across your path. Twisted creatures come out of hidden places. There are the dull blue blobs of light from the undulating parlors and ghostly warehouses. A leader, darkness.

Yet, in spite of all this fog of the Bowery night, there are shots of random beauty. From the elevated windows of a tenement, a pile of cool, clean and white beds. Old-fashioned oil lamps casting their mellow glow and carefully nurtured potted plants. It is poverty striving for beauty and somehow it is pleasant and beautiful.

There are diverting moments providing a contrast to the dreary piles of clothing in front lay out almost to the curb. Shrewd bargainers come there to haggle. Despite its melancholy drabness there is a certain beauty. A prospective customer leaves. He is followed by the proprietor who makes facial gestures. In the end he returns at his own price for it is bad luck in Baxter street to lose a sale. One may be outfitted in old habiliments there from head to foot for five or six dollars. Then, when the habiliments are a little more worn he may go to the "reliever shops" on Park Row and exchange them for clothes and shoes more worn and have a "change extra for a shot of Bowers," meaning a smoky liquor concoction that bootleggers sell by the swig from hip-pocket bottles.

Delancey street, to me, is the garret of all east side streets. It has width, color and life runs at high tempo. There is noise—the noise of dogs, of crying babies, of the cries of hawkers selling balloons, charcoal, hockey-poke, salted nuts, dried herring and soda pop. Delancey street appears to be always happy. Interesting, too, is the sight of the old-time criers, their bearded skull-capped patriarchs as cashiers. And the stand-up eating

GERMAN SLAYER OF 26 EXECUTED

Hanover, Germany, April 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—Fritz Haarmann, the local butcher who was sentenced to death last winter for having killed a large number of men and boys, was beheaded at 6 o'clock this morning.

Haarmann, a local butcher, was sentenced to death by a Hanover court December 19, last, for the slaying of 26 persons. Hans Grans, his accomplice, received a life sentence.

"I go to the decapitating block joyfully and happily," declared Haarmann just before sentence was passed. He appeared unconcerned when the extreme penalty was imposed.

NEGROES OBSERVED
EASTER MONDAY
IN SPARTA SECTION

Sparta, Ga., April 14.—(Special.) The negro population of this city and Hancock county made a unanimous holiday declaration yesterday, Easter Monday, and did not appear on their jobs for the entire day. The big granite quarries, here, working 100 or more negro men, were forced to close down for the day as only two or three appeared for work.

This was not unexpected, however, as it has been the custom for years in this section. Picnics, ball games and other forms of amusement were enjoyed by the negroes.

KNEW SUICIDE

Photo sent by wire to The Constitution by TELEPHOTO process.

Photo shows Miss Anna Hayes, of Chicago, a girl friend of Robert Preston, of Chicago, Northwestern university student, who was called before the coroner's jury inquest.

Weighted down by a brief case containing three heavy pieces of iron and with a bullet hole in his head, the body of Preston was recovered from Lake Michigan Sunday by police. Statements in three watersoaked diaries in the brief case indicated suicide, police said.

Oil exploration in Argentina has made such progress that the government is to build an oil refinery. Re-advance from sales of petroleum in 1924 amounted to $1,733,000.

MORTUARYA Word of Comfort.

The world abounds in subtle infection and seduction to poison and to divert man's devotion and obedience to the Father of Love. Chiefly amid the heartrending hours of loneliness and grief does a man discover the hypocrisy and the deception of aught that leads him to ignore his God. When all else deserts him in his hour of desolation, his Father's touch soothes and heals and sustains his aching heart.

—Frederick G. Budlong.
